SOVIETS PUSH TOWARD RIGA; CITY SHELLED

GAINS CLAIMED IN SLOVAKIA AND HUNGARY

BY W. W. HERCHER
London, Sept. 25 (AP)—Russian troops captured the west Estonian port of Haapsalu and seized a 35-mile section of the Gulf of Riga coast below fallen Parnu today as they sped onward toward the Latvian capital of Riga.

The Moscow bulletin also announced the capture of 50 localities in southern Poland along the Czechoslovak border, but did not confirm last night's Moscow broadcast telling of a 25-mile penetration of Slovakia. Nor did the Russians officially confirm the Romanian Sunday bulletin announcing an invasion of southeastern Hungary.

Haapsalu, 63 miles southwest of Tallinn, Estonian capital, was among 800 populated places taken by Marshal Leonid A. Govorov's Leningrad army sweeping through western and southern Estonia.

Armies Near Junction
Kussku only two miles from the Latvian border, and 65 miles north of imperilled Riga, was the southernmost point reached by units which drove down the eastern side of the Riga gulf from Parnu, taken Saturday.

Gen. Ivan Maslennikov's Third Baltic army, attacking through northern Latvia captured Mazalaca, 25 miles east of Kussku. Hence, a junction between his units and those under Govorov is imminent.

The Third Baltic army also seized 200 other localities, including Matsi, 12 miles south of Mazalaca, and only 30 miles from the Riga gulf, and Silaskala, 12 miles below Matsi and 62 miles northeast of Riga.

Riga, under artillery bombardment from Russian troops attacking only six miles south of the city, also was menaced by a slow but steady advance by Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko's Second Baltic army driving in from the east. Yeremenko's troops captured 80 hamlets during the day, including the rail station of Keipene, 40 miles from Riga.

Two Jap Columns Advance In China

BY SPENCER MOOSA
Chungking, Sept. 25 (AP)—Chinese troops are engaging two Japanese columns apparently attempting to envelop Kweilin in flanking movements, the high command announced today as bitter fighting was reported all along the Chinese battle front.

The Japanese are moving toward the Kwangsi province city from positions east of the Hunan-Kwangsi railroad. One column which took Kwangyang, 50 miles east, northeast of Kweilin, pushed southward for an undisclosed distance, the high command said.

Meanwhile, the invaders recaptured Tachien, 30 miles north-east of Kweilin, and struck on southwestward. Their drive engulfed Yungming, in a 25-mile advance, and was continuing.

BIDDLE UPHOLDS POLITICS OF CIO

Political Action Group Within Election Laws, Senator Informed

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP)—Attorney General Biddle declared today that the CIO political action committee and the National Citizens PAC have stayed within the federal election laws.

He explained that the CIO organization confined its activities to primaries, and that the latter financed itself through individual contributions.

Replying in a letter dated Sept. 23 and made public today, to a written complaint from Senator Moore (D-Okla.), the attorney general based his findings on these main points:

"It seems clear that so long as the CIO political action committee confined its activities to primary campaigns and political conventions, it did not violate this (corrupt practices) statute."

On Senator Moore's contention that the Hatch Act had been violated by contributions amounting to more than $5,000, Biddle wrote that his investigation showed that the PAC had stayed within the limit on each contribution to a candidate or committee. He added that provisions of the law apply only "when in fact real contributions are made to particular political committees and candidates."

Capital Now Safe; Prized Documents On Display Again

BY TOM REEDY

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP)—The joint chiefs of staff have concluded finally that the nation's capital, for the first time since Pearl Harbor, is safe from enemy air attack.

Archibald Mac Leish, librarian of Congress, said today he had to obtain the permission of the joint chiefs—General George C. Marshall, Admiral Ernest J. King, and Admiral William D. Leahy—to display again the government's most prized documents, the original declaration of independence, constitution, and British magna charta.

He added that the permission was granted on the conclusion that there is no likelihood now of even a token bombing.

They will go on display next Sunday.

The documents have been guarded like gold. They were whisked away to a secret, bomb-proof place after the Japanese attack.

More Flying Bombs Aimed At England

London, Tuesday, Sept. 26 (AP)—Flying bombs came over the east coast during the night to continue the enemy's attack for the tenth straight night.

The missiles arrived from an east-northeasterly direction, indicating that they were launched from German aircraft somewhere in the region of the North Sea.

Battered Tokyo Fleet Gets Out Of Philippines

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Sept. 25 (AP)—The First U. S. Marines, failing to crack strongly-entrenched defenders in the Umurbrogol hills of Peleliu island, in the southern Palaus, by-passed that strong-point and now have progressed within less than a mile of the northern tip of the island, the navy announced tonight.

The maneuver represented at least a mile advance along the western side of the island. The marines encountered swamps and heavily wooded low hills, but apparently few Japanese.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, reported this progress in a communiqué, reported that 7,713 enemy troops were killed on Peleliu through Sept. 24 (U. S. Time).

This means that only 293 Japanese dead have been counted in the past three days on Peleliu. Mopping up operations continued on Angaur island, six miles southward, where an estimated 975 Japanese have been killed.

This means a total of 8,288 enemy dead on both islands.

Elements of the 81st Army (Wildcat) Division reinforced the marines on Peleliu, but apparently they have not been sent into action yet in the northwestern sector of the island.

In the meantime, land-based aircraft were active. Liberators of the 7th Army air force bombed harbor facilities and shipping in Chichi Jima island, the Bonins, and raided Marcus Island. Other raids hit Rota, near Guam in the Marianas, Jauluit, Wotje and Mil Islands in the Marshalls.

HELP FOR CHINA BEING OUTLINED

Nelson Returns To Make Report To President; WPB Post Retained

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP)—A future as an official roving "businessman ambassador" seemed likely for Donald M. Nelson tonight, but whether this would be coupled with continued active chairmanship of the war production board remained obscure.

Nelson, just home from China with plans for expanding its wartime industry, was scheduled to report to President Roosevelt tomorrow.

Although Nelson revealed none of the plans worked out with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, these reports emanated from persons close to the WPB chief.

First, that the trip—generally regarded as a "first aid" economic mission to failing China—was highly successful and promising.

Second, that the mission was concerned mainly with finding out what supplies and capital goods are needed from this country to defeat Japan, and only secondarily concerned with establishing China after the war as a self-sufficient industrial power.

Third, that Nelson does not plan, immediately at least, to relinquish his WPB chairmanship, although he may not resume active control of operations. Before he left, Nelson indicated to friends he would ultimately step down, leaving Acting Chairman J. A. Krug in full command.

Sherwood Resigns OWI Post To Help Roosevelt Campaign

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP)—Robert E. Sherwood, director of the overseas branch of OWI, resigned tonight to return to private life in order to assist President Roosevelt in his fourth term bid for reelection.

Director Elmer Davis of the office of war information, appointed Edward W. Barrett, who has been executive director of the overseas branch since last January, to succeed Sherwood. Barrett was an associate editor of Newsweek magazine.

Sherwood returned to this country ten days ago from a seven and one-half month sojourn in London. In his letter of resignation to Davis, Sherwood said that his "sole purpose" was to take an active part in the campaign for the re-election of President Roosevelt.

DEWEY SAYS HE'LL NOT DO MUD SLINGING

ROOSEVELT'S JOKES ABOUT DEPRESSION DAYS ANSWERED

BY GARDNER BRIDGE

Oklahoma City, Sept. 25 (AP)—Assailing President Roosevelt's record in office as "desperately bad," Gov. Thomas E. Dewey tonight hit back sharply at his opponent's opening campaign speech with this statement:

"He jokes about depressions—about the seven straight years of unemployment of his administration. But he cannot laugh away the record."

The Republican nominee, patently aroused by Mr. Roosevelt's Saturday night assertion that the GOP campaign has been marked by "fraud" and "falsehood" quoted from Senate records in an attempt to show the White House was responsible for the "shocking state of our defense program four months before Pearl Harbor."

But, he said:

Record Quoted
"I shall not join my opponent in his descent to mud-slinging. I shall never make a speech to one group of American people inciting them to hatred and distrust of any other group."

Shouting "he has asked for it—here it is," Dewey then requested Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey as saying "We can keep people in the army about as cheaply as we could create an agency for them when they are out."

"But, says Mr. Roosevelt, the War Department thereafter issued a plan for 'speedy discharges.'" Dewey said, "You can read that plan from now until doomsday and you cannot find one word about 'speedy discharges.'"

"It is, in fact, a statement of the priority in which men will be discharged after the war. It does not say whether they are to be retained in service a month or years after victory. That will be up to the next administration."

Can't Laugh It Off

Declaring Mr. Roosevelt tried to "laugh off the problem of jobs after the war, Dewey said:

"Let's get this straight. The man who wants to be president for 16 years is indeed indispensable. He is indispensable to Harry Hopkins, to Madame Perkins, to Harold Ickes, to a host of other political job holders."

"He is indispensable to America's leading enemy of civil liberties—the mayor of Jersey City. He is indispensable to those infamous machines in Chicago—in the

Yanks Pinch Nazi Escape At Rimini

BY GEORGE BRIA

Rome, Sept. 25 (AP)—American Fifth army troops, smashing behind the core of the enemy's Gothic line, were fighting forward tonight less than 12 miles from the Bologna-Rimini highway, main escape route for German forces still battling desperately northwest of the Adriatic port of Rimini.

The thrust toward the highway—the via Aemilia of the Romans—was made northeast of Porenzuela. Farther west Yank troops continued to advance in the Futa pass area and reached points roughly 15 miles from the big industrial city of Bologna.

BOMBERS POUND GERMAN PLANTS

Rail Yards At Coblenz And Frankfurt Ripped By Explosives

BY ERNEST AGNEW

London, Sept. 25 (AP)—More than 2,000 American planes, including nearly 1,300 Flying Fortresses and Liberators, hammered home Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's warning today to foreign workers to leave German plants or face the gravest danger.

In the month's heaviest attacks on Reich targets, the heavy bombers dropped nearly 4,000 tons of bombs, ripping apart two large freight yards at Frankfurt, Germany's tenth largest city; warehouses and rail yards at Coblenz, at the confluence of the Rhine and the Moselle; and rail yards and synthetic oil-chemical plants at often-bombed Ludwigshafen, farther down the Rhine.

The American flyers classed the missions as "routine." They met no enemy fighters, presumably because of the unfavorable weather. The Germans sent up only meager flak. Thick clouds over the targets necessitated instrument bombing.

Nine bombers and three of the heavy escort of fighters were reported missing.

Substitute Carrier Sells Gas Coupons Found In Letters

Detroit, Sept. 25 (AP)—During three weeks' employment as a substitute mail carrier in Pontiac during July, 20-year-old Robert E. Berg told Federal Judge Edward J. Moinet today, he received $1,000 from the sale of gasoline coupons he removed from letters mailed by the Pontiac ration board.

Berg pleaded guilty to a charge of mail theft. Judge Moinet referred his case to the probation department pending further investigation by postal inspectors.

Berg told Judge Moinet he sold coupons good for five gallons "to individuals and gas stations in Pontiac" for $45 per 100. He said he used the proceeds for the purchase of an $1,100 automobile.

The youth was charged specifically with theft of only two letters, but the ration board informed postal inspectors it mailed 300 letters at the same time.

BRITISH FIGHT FOR FOOTHOLD ACROSS RHINE

SLIM SUPPLY LANE REACHES TRAPPED AIRBORNE UNITS

BY HOWARD COWAN

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, Tuesday, Sept. 26. (AP)—Parts of three to four German divisions, smashing repeatedly at the valorous little band of British paratroopers holding a precarious foothold on the north bank of the Neder Rhine, were reported early today to have gained control of one end of the highway bridge at Arnhem, Holland.

A dispatch from the front said the British airborne units had finally been forced to quit the north end of the bridge after holding it desperately for three days while surrounded.

The British Second army, throwing a bridgehead across the river barrier, also was under violent attack as it strove to drive up to the beleaguered airborne force which has fought alone for nine days. Its supply lane stretching 50 miles southward was under assault.

Pressure Kept Up

Still supplies came through, still sea-going trucks and assault boats crossed the stream in a hail of shell and machine-gun fire, and an officer declared "The situation is not critical," although only a dribble of men and supplies was reaching the cut-off forces.

Meanwhile, the Allies swung guns and troops from Holland into Germany at two points some 15 miles south of this fighting, driving ahead to within eight miles of the Siegfried line, northern terminal at Klevé, keeping up the relentless pressure on the enemy's more vulnerable northern defenses.

Supreme headquarters joined in with a call to the 12,000,000 foreign workers inside the Reich to take up arms, indicating climactic battles were at hand.

Southwest of Klevé the British Second army was moving out east of its Dutch base at Eindhoven on a 13-mile front and advanced eastward to the Dutch border. There were about 18 miles from the German frontier.

Frontier Village Taken

Supreme headquarters said Allied forces had entered the fortress of the Reichswald, which screens the fortress of Klevé on the southwest, and front dispatches said these were British troops and tanks. From the edge of the forest at the Dutch border they are eight miles from Klevé.

Four or five miles on the north, American ski troops attached to the British Second army, seized the Dutch frontier village of Beek and struck into Germany at about the same distance from Klevé.

This twin thrust put the Allies about 50 miles northwest of the Ruhr city of Essen, with its great Krupp munitions factories.

Apparently unable to seize intact the road and rail bridge across the northern branch of the Rhine at Arnhem, the British brought up sea-going trucks—the

Detroit Children Play Hockey, Stay In Store 3 Days

Detroit, Sept. 25 (AP)—Eleven-year-old Lucille Dandoy told police today how she and her brother Freddie, 7, spent three days in a Dearborn department store and three chilly nights in a vacant lot after playing hockey from school, before they were found today.

They subsisted on a dollar's worth of candy, she said.

The two had been missing since they left home Friday morning apparently to go to school. Instead, they went to the department store, where they stayed all day Friday and Saturday, and all morning today until store detectives noticed them, and called Dearborn police.

At night, Lucille said, they stayed in a vacant lot where she admitted it was "real cold Saturday and Sunday nights." During the day Sunday, she said, they were on the lawn of the Dearborn municipal building.

Freddie had a heavy cold, but otherwise the children appeared unharmed by their adventure.

Rat Poison May Be Obtained At City Hall For Clean-Up

City Engineer A. V. Aronson yesterday announced that Escanaba residents may obtain red squill rat poison for the clean-up campaign by telephoning city hall, No. 321. The city kept about 500 pounds of the poison in reserve for such a clean-up campaign.

As the telephone calls are received at city hall they will be recorded and a supply of the poison will be removed from cold storage to meet the demand. Each Friday of each week the applicants will receive the poison, which will be dispensed at the fire station.

Reason for the weekly schedule is because it is difficult to keep the poison, composed of ground meat, fish and red squill, without refrigeration. It cannot be kept at city hall, but must be removed from cold storage to meet the need.

The city's Saturday campaign against rats is reported to have been successful, according to information reaching the city engineer. The drive is being continued with poison to be distributed to the North Western Railroad yards area, and elsewhere along the bay shore in North Escanaba.

Great Social Security Plan Outlined To Cover Every Person In Britain

(By The Associated Press)

London, Sept. 25.—The British government made public tonight, on the eve of the reconvening of parliament, a tremendous social security plan affecting every man, woman and child in Britain and the government's answer, at least in part, to the controversial Beveridge plan of a year ago.

During the first year it is estimated the plan will cost $2,600,000,000, compared with $2,788,000,000 for the Beveridge plan. It covers human needs from the cradle to the grave.

It would provide unemployment and sickness insurance; health service; widows pensions; retirement pensions; family allowances; orphans allowance; motherhood grants and death grants.

Basically the government plan would seek to banish extreme poverty from Britain at one stroke and greatly improve the welfare of most of the country's 47,000,000 people.

With postwar problems, including social security, expected to make the "long parliament" a scene of political strife, it was announced today that Prime Minister Churchill and Mrs. Churchill had returned to England from the Quebec conferences with President Roosevelt.

It is generally expected proposals of the plan will claim it is famous "ducks" of amphibious operations—and threw a bitterly-contested bridgehead across the quarter-mile wide stream.

The British were pressing east from around Deure to the vicinity of Volkel, 13 miles north. A bridgehead over the Bois De Luc Canal, southeast of Eindhoven, was enlarged.

Yanks Capture Epinal
On the west the Canadians and British scored 10-mile advances on a front of about 20 miles. A field dispatch said British troops had entered Turnhout, largest Belgian city still in German hands, 22 miles west and slightly south of Eindhoven.

Twenty miles to the west, the Canadians forged a bridgehead on the north bank of the Antwerp-Turnhout Canal eight miles north-east of Antwerp. These forces were pressing hard against the Germans cut off by the British sweep through Holland.

The Americans captured Epinal, a communications center 40 miles southeast of Nancy and about the same distance from the Belfort Gap leading to the Rhine, a front dispatch said.

French forces of the U. S. Seventh army slashed forward five miles north of Baccarat, which is 29 miles southeast of Nancy and 45 miles from the French city of Strasbourg on the Rhine. The Germans also were thrown out of Leyr, eight miles northeast of Nancy.

On the seaward flank, Canadian infantry, bolstered by flame-throwing Churchill tanks and the tanks with flails that explode land mines, began storming the southwestern defenses of the long beleaguered French channel port of Calais.

Bronx—and all the others.

Dewey, his eyes flashing in a manner reminiscent of his many courtroom battles, shook his finger at a crowd in the Municipal Auditorium and declared:

"Let us look at the closely supervised words of the hand-picked candidate for vice president. He said of my opponent: 'The very future of the peace and prosperity of the world depends upon his re-election in November.' I have not heard Mr. Truman repudiated by Mr. Roosevelt as yet."

He referred to Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri, Mr. Roosevelt's vice presidential running mate.

"Here are the words of Boss Kelly of the Chicago machine,"

Dewey went on, "the manager of that fake third term draft of 1940; 'the salvation of this nation rests in one man.' Was that statement ever repudiated by Mr. Roosevelt? No, it was rewarded by increased White House favors."

"And was it a falsehood that one of the first acts of Mr. Roosevelt's newly selected National chairman was to announce last May that he was for a fourth term—and that he was looking forward to a fifth term?"

At the outset, Dewey recalled President Roosevelt's words when he accepted a fourth term nomination: "I shall not campaign in the usual sense . . . in these days of tragic sorrow I do not consider it fitting . . ."

"Last Saturday night," the former New York rackets prosecutor rapped out, "the man who wants to be president for 16 years made his first speech of this campaign. Gone was his high sounding pledge. Forgotten were these days of tragic sorrow."

"It was the speech of mud slinging, ridicule and wisecracks. 'I plumb the depths of democracy by dragging into this campaign the names of Hitler and Goebbels,' it descended to quoting from Mein Kampf and to reckless charges of 'fraud' and 'falsehood.'"

He had not intended, Dewey said, to "rake over my opponents' sad record of failing to prepare the defenses of this country for war."

"It's all in the past—a very tragic past," he said. "It has cost countless American lives; it has caused untold misery."

"But Mr. Roosevelt has now brought the subject up. He seized violently upon the statement that we were not prepared for war when it came. He calls that a 'disfession' which not even Goebbels should have attempted."

Football Is Topic At Lions Meeting

A discussion of football formations and strategy by George Rutwisch, Escanaba high school football coach, featured the program at the regular meeting of Escanaba Lions club Monday evening. Declaring that football is only a game and the players immature, Rutwisch cautioned fans about being too critical of mistakes and failures.

The speaker, using blackboard illustrations, demonstrated several formations. He emphasized that ball game are not won because of certain formations but because there are players on the team capable of making the formations effective.

Plans were laid to have the Lions club represented again this year in the service club bowling league.

Donates Royalties From New Book To English Hospital

MRS. WILLIAM DONAHEY

Mrs. William Donahey, Chicago, who has been spending her vacation in Grand Marais, was in Marquette Saturday. She is known, through her books for children, to hundreds of young folk in the city who have become acquainted with Mary Dickerson Donahey's skill in story telling through her numerous books in the children's room in the Peter White public library.

It will be recalled that her most recent book, "Apple Pie Inn" is favorably reviewed by critics in America, but met an even more enthusiastic reception in England, where the edition of 4,000, all permitted under war-time regulations, was sold out as soon as it issued. It was given English illustrations and glossary of the American terms used.

Johnathan Cape, the publisher, thought so highly of it, that when sending the first royalties, he doubled the sum agreed upon. Mrs. Donahey immediately contributed it to the American ward of Queen Charlotte's Maternity hospital in England, and for the fund for the relief of British children bombed out of their homes.

Mrs. Donahey's latest book, "The Pines Of Yesterday," which like so many of her stories has an Upper Peninsula background, has recently been submitted to her publishers.

Lost Clipper Found In Mexico With One Dead, Several Hurt

Mexico City, Sept. 25. (AP)—The missing Havana Clipper has been found with one dead and ten or more hurt among the 23 aboard, the ministry of communications announced tonight.

The plane came down, the ministry announced, near a highway between Puebla and Perote, midway on the airline from Vera Cruz to Mexico City, during a storm Saturday. It was enroute from Havana to Mexico City.

News of the crashed plane came from the little town of Tlanalapa, to which some of the passengers made their way after the accident.

There was no explanation of why it took two days for word to reach here while Mexican army planes and civilian aircraft were searching the countryside. Troops also had been combing the mountainous region.

News From Men In The Service

S/Sgt. Vernon J. Hill, of Rapid River, is a member of a U. S. Army signal corps unit, and is finding plenty of work to do in the European theater of operations. Organized to install, operate and maintain radio stations in liberated territory, the unit literally has become a jack-of-all-trades. They are engaged in restoring all types of communications. Telephones and switchboards, teletype machines are being restored; the crews are laying miles of wire. In many cases the signal corps unit moved into towns and started work while the retreating Germans still were shelling and strafing.

OPA Lists Changes In Fur Regulation

A number of changes in the price regulation covering all sellers of raw, dressed, and dressed and dyed furs and peltries were announced today by the OPA.

The new action, effective Sept. 23, substantially amends the bailing out provision, establishes a more definite limitation on the amount of skins that may be sold above the exemption level prices established for certain kinds of furs and makes two important changes in the procedure for applying for the establishment of maximum prices or for increases in maximum prices. It also makes several other changes including the clarification of certain definitions.

There will be no general increase in prices as a result of this action, OPA said.

FIRMS WHO AID AXIS MUST PAY

Blacklisting In Europe To Be Continued After Victory

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP)—The United States and Great Britain announced tonight that blacklisting of business firms alleged to be pro-Axis will be continued after victory in Europe in order to penalize firms which have profited by trading with the Nazis and to cut off funds which Nazi leaders might otherwise use in fleeing Germany.

The announcement was interpreted as evidence of a tough postwar Allied economic policy designed to give commercial advantage to business interests which have played ball with the Allied nations in competition with those interests accused of growing fat on Axis profits.

The policy will be felt especially in such countries as Spain and Sweden where Axis trade was very heavy and, in fact, began to decline only in recent months when the neutrals finally realized that Hitler could no longer hope even for a compromise peace in Europe.

The policy will be felt in this hemisphere mostly in Argentina which maintained its links with Germany longer than any other American nation and is currently accused by Secretary Hull of being the headquarters of Fascist operations in the Americas.

Carpenter Shop Is Damaged By Fire

The Alfred Brandt carpenter shop at 705 South 14th street was seriously damaged at 8:45 a. m. yesterday by fire that started from an overheated stove. The fire was confined to the interior of one section of the shop, but valuable machinery was lost in the blaze.

Escanaba firemen who extinguished the blaze said the interior was seething with flames when they arrived. Fire Chief Arvid Johnson suffered a scorched hand in directing a stream of water into the building through the billowing fire.

U. P. TEACHERS MEET OCT. 5-6

Conference In Escanaba To Stress Postwar Education

Teachers from the entire Upper Peninsula (designated as M.E.A. Region Seven) will attend a state institute in Escanaba, Thursday and Friday, October 5 and 6. Since the meetings are designed to give on-the-job training to teachers, the state superintendent of public instruction has declared the conference a state institute and teachers may attend without loss of pay.

The Region Seven Conference will place emphasis on the role of education both during the war and in the reconstruction period when peace is won. Carl S. Winters, an Oak Park, Illinois pastor known for his radio sermons, and J. M. Braude, judge of Boys' Court, Chicago, will be the featured speakers at the General Sessions. Judge Braude's topic, when he speaks at the Friday afternoon general meeting, is "What About Wartime Youth?"

Edgar F. Down, president of the Michigan Education Association, and Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, will speak on the General Session programs. Music for the General Sessions will be provided by an elementary school orchestra, directed by Frank Karas; the Escanaba High School Band, Paul Bowers, director; and the Gladstone High School A Cappella Choir, directed by Marie Burk-lund. General sessions will be held in the Escanaba Junior High School auditorium.

Work As A Part of School
Four Division programs are scheduled for the Region Seven Conference. The Elementary Division will hear Dr. Norman Westlund, director of the Saginaw Valley Children's Center. Mrs. Barbara Semer, principal, Franklin School, Escanaba, is chairman of the Elementary Division.

"Work as a Part of the School's Organization" will be discussed by Paul E. Jacobson, superintendent of schools, Davenport, Iowa, at the High School Division meeting. Randall Penhale, Iron River principal, is chairman.

Mrs. James C. Parker, president of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, will speak on the subject, "Children Are Not Expendable," at the P. T. A. Division meeting. The chairman of the Division is Mrs. Gernsey Gorton, Marquette. The P. T. A. session is open to the public without admission requirements.

Bryan Hulse, director of inter-service training at Eastern Illinois State Teachers College, is speaker for the Rural Division. Chairman of the meeting is J. E. Siddall, McMillan superintendent. Twenty-nine Section meetings are planned to give in-service training to teachers in specific subject fields. Commercial exhibits will display the newest in teaching materials.

Officers for the Region Seven Conference are: Bernard Gaffney, principal, Houghton, chairman; Joseph Gucky, superintendent, Stephenson, second vice-chairman; Mrs. Hazel Larson, Ishpeming, secretary; and Clarence Pearson, high school, Escanaba, regional executive secretary. A vacancy exists in the office of first vice-chairman.

Spalding Priest Follows War Events In Far East

Spalding, Mich.—Developments in the Pacific and Asiatic war theaters are being watched with deep interest nowadays by Rev. Fr. Frank A. Seifert, pastor of The Church of St. Francis Xavier of Spalding, who before Pearl Harbor traveled through portions of China and Japan that are likely to be bloody battlefields before victory over the Nipponese foe is finally won.

It was back in 1937 that Fr. Seifert decided to go to the Orient, not as a missionary, but as a traveler who wanted to learn how other peoples live and think. He did not go on any ordinary Cook's Tour. Instead of visiting only the well known tourist spots, Fr. Seifert traveled some of the byways, visiting the unheard of hamlets and actually living in the homes of natives as they live themselves.

Fr. Seifert made a year's trip to the Far East... to the Philippines, Hong Kong, through China northward on the Trans-Siberian railway to Mukden and Harbin in Manchukuo; by camel caravan into Inner Mongolia; and back again to Korea and Sakhalin island. By unusual coincidence, he was standing on the Marco Polo bridge in Peiping when the Japanese fired the first shot in the "incident" that started the Sino Japanese war.

He lived in the home of San Jiro Nurata, son of the deceased surgeon general of the Japanese army, when he was in Tokyo, and had an opportunity to carefully study the Nipponese mind. He was also at Yokohama when the entire Japanese fleet passed in review before Emperor Hirohito on his birthday anniversary. This display of naval strength made a profound impression upon the Spalding priest's mind, causing him to disagree with his overoptimistic friends who boasted that we could beat the Japs in a couple of weeks.

Boosted Lumberjack's Morale
It was for this reason that Fr. Seifert was willing to devote much of his time last winter and spring to talk to the men of the Upper Peninsula lumber camps in an effort to curb absenteeism and promote increased timber production. In his talks, the priest told the lumberjacks how tough a foe our boys were facing in the Pacific island jungles. He emphasized the importance of the woodsmen's role on the production front by exhibiting airplane propellers, sections of fuselage, glider wing, shell and ammunition cases, new plastic material, and about forty other samples of war materials made of wood. Fr. Seifert's talks had a sobering effect on the lumberjacks, and lumbering operators reported week end sprees lessened and the men worked harder as a result.

Fr. Seifert served a few years as chaplain at the Michigan branch prison in Marquette, and was a captain in the U. S. army chaplain corps during World War I, seeing service in France. Because of his ability to speak several languages, he was later assigned to Fort Douglas at Salt Lake City, Utah, where 300 captured German soldiers and 200 enemy aliens of several nationalities were interned. The sailors were members of the crew of U-boat 57, captured at Newport News, and the raider Friedrich Wilhelm, taken off the coast of New Jersey in the first World War.

Prisoners Worked
The prisoners of war did not 'soldier' on the job at Fort Douglas, the priest recalls. Like those who are cutting pulpwood in the Upper Peninsula now, they were paid 80 cents a day under the Geneva convention rules, and they were also assured that on their return to Europe they could take along, duty free, all the goods they could pack in four trunksful.

"Work hard, boys, and the more stuff you will be able to take back with you," Fr. Seifert recalls he used to tell the internees. He still chuckles over some of the amusing incidents that occurred at Fort Douglas. Before the prisoners returned to their homelands, he assisted them in buying large theater trunks, since there were no restrictions as to size. The prisoners gave him their money to go shopping at Salt Lake City stores. One day, he bought $1600 worth of women's apparel for them; he also purchased loads of razor blades, musical instruments and other goods.

"I received quite a few letters of appreciation from Europe later," Fr. Seifert said. "One of the boys said it was the best thing that ever happened to him, for he had enough goods to start in business back home."

A Stamp Collector
After leaving army service, Fr. Seifert served for about fifteen years at Daggett, where he directed the building of a new brick church. At that time, he won much attention with a nationwide direct by mail canvas for funds, which brought thousands of quarters from persons all over the country who answered his appeal to "buy a brick" to build the church. Before coming to Spalding, he also had charge of a Catholic pastorate at Iron Mountain. Fr. Seifert is a philatelist of considerable note, possessing a collection of fake issues that

YOUTH CENTER TO OPEN SOON

Solicitors Hope To Raise
$1,000 To Finance
Project

Setting $1,000 as their goal, solicitors have started a campaign to raise funds to establish the Alger County youth center. The drive got under way Saturday and will continue through this week. The Montclair building on East Superior street has been rented and it is expected the center will be opened by Oct. 20. Membership in the youth center is available to youths in school from the seventh grade to the 12th grade, and to youth out of school up to the age of 20 years.

In addition to a membership fee, members will be required to pledge a definite number of working hours to the project. Persons not in the membership age limit will be entitled to attend the center as a guest of a member, and service men will be welcome at all times.

A schedule of operating hours has not been developed, but it is planned at this time to have the center open five nights a week and on some afternoons. Adult hosts and hostesses will be in attendance at all times. Equipment to furnish the center is needed, it was stated, and the soliciting committee, headed by Mrs. Beatrice, is on the lookout for a piano, games of all kinds, tables, chairs, stools, ice cream cabinet and scoops. People having articles which can be put to use have been asked to advise the committee.

CLOTHING COLLECTION
Rev. O. J. La Mothe, pastor of Sacred Heart church, has announced that a collection of old clothing will be made this week. This collection is in cooperation with all the churches in the United States who this week are sponsoring a collection of clothing to be sent overseas. This clothing is not meant for Catholics alone but will be distributed to any creed, race or color wherever it is needed.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday the C. Y. O. will collect all articles of clothing and they will in turn be sorted out and packed and sent to a central shipping warehouse and then sent overseas.

Bikes No Longer On Rationed List

Rationing of bicycles was ended Saturday, Oct. 27, by the OPA. "This action was taken", OPA Administration Chester Bowles said, "because so few bicycles are on hand, and so few scheduled for production that rationing now serves little useful purpose."

"We began bicycle rationing in May 1942 with a national stockpile of about 200,000 bicycles. We have been rationing this stockpile plus the Victory model production. Now the stockpile is gone, and current production is too low, to make it worth while to burden our war price and rationing boards and the public with rationing."

Although bicycles are taken off rationing by Saturday's action, bicycle dealers are required to hold all records of rationing sales, inventories, etc., for six months. This action has been taken with the concurrence of the war production board.

A minimum of 90 days will be needed by automobile manufacturers to get ready for civilian production after the war.

Mr. Roosevelt Speaks

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT's first political address of the campaign, delivered to the nation on Saturday night, was labeled by New Dealers as the strongest speech of his political career, and by critics of his administration, as an effort principally confined to name calling with little attempt to meet the real issues of the campaign.

Certain it is that in his entire address he ignored the charge that Communists are financing and supporting the fourth term candidate in this campaign. Certain, also, is the fact that in Mr. Roosevelt's first admitted campaign speech, he made no effort to explain away New Deal bungling and confusion, that paved the way not only for the military disaster at Pearl Harbor, but made necessary the application of restrictions on the American people such as they have never before endured in either war or peace. He totally failed to answer the paramount charge that in spite of the necessities of war, and the burden of confiscatory taxation imposed upon the people of America, the New Deal administration continues to maintain needless and out-moded bureaus and commissions, for political purposes.

Communists, payrollers and the political machine bosses of the nation, will applaud the address of the president. What the rest of the people of America think about it will be revealed at the election on Nov. 7.

They're Coming Back

DESPITE the pleas of government agencies to remain on the job until the victory is won in the Pacific, war workers continue to desert the airplane factories and other defense plants on the west coast and are buying one-way tickets for their homes in the Middle West and South.

Poor health and other reasons are given for their decisions to quit war jobs, but in most instances they simply want to settle down in occupations that will be permanent. Railroads and bus companies report the workers are moving eastward in increasing numbers, and a steady procession of automobiles, can be seen on the highways. Among them are the Okies who are returning home.

The exodus from war plants will soon relieve the labor procurement problem of some of the new industries Escanaba has attracted in the last year. When peace returns, the men will return in large numbers from the armed forces, and then it will be a problem of finding enough jobs to go around. It is for this reason that the efforts of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce and the municipal administration to land additional civilian goods industries must be continued so that the community will enjoy full employment in the future.

Conservationists Aroused

THE Escanaba Lions club has assumed the lead in reviving interest in conservation in Delta and other counties of the Upper Peninsula with a view toward obtaining a more bounteous supply of fish and game.

It is a commendable move for it should serve to direct more attention to the problem of creating better hunting and fishing for the postwar period when the gun-toting service men and vacationists will be returning to Upper Peninsula's woods and streams in greater numbers than ever.

Sportsmen's clubs, in the past, usually have placed the burden of responsibility for good hunting and fishing on the Michigan conservation department. It is to be hoped that in this revival of interest in conservation the sportsmen will think more about what they can do themselves to restock the woods and streams. The real club is one that establishes its own fish rearing pond, plants rice and other food for ducks, and carries out other conservation projects on its own.

Most important of all from the standpoint of creating public confidence and cooperation is that members of sportsmen's clubs should observe the game and fish laws themselves. Nothing is more disillusioning to newspaper editors than to devote much space to the activities of such organizations only to learn later that some of their members are not averse to killing deer out of season and committing other infractions of the law.

Perhaps, the organizations should not be criticized for the wrongdoings of their individual members, but the disillusionment and disgust is there just the same. There have been too many so-called great sportsmen who have turned out to be just game hogs.

Postwar Church Building

MILLIONS of dollars worth of postwar construction work will come from a source the public probably little realizes, according to an article in a recent issue of the Wall Street Journal.

The Round Table

BY RAYMOND MOLEY

Portland—Whenever a great many uncertainties hang over an election and things look close, as in the present year, the special conditions that affect each individual state assume vital importance. You cannot generalize about this Presidential race. It consists of 48 or more smaller races, each of which has to be appraised on the ground. I can illustrate by suggesting the situations that prevail in Colorado and Oregon, two states in which I have been spending a few days talking with people about politics. Colorado and Oregon present an interesting contrast in political and economic evolution. Colorado is a state which used to be heavily labor-minded because of the great importance of mining there. Oregon used to be most conservative and farm-minded. But mining has declined and agriculture has assumed a preponderant influence in Colorado. In Oregon, industry—notably war industry—has shaken the old conservative, agricultural trends, and labor holds the balance. Politics has followed the economic trend in both states. Colorado is becoming a pretty solid Republican state. Oregon is very doubtful this year.

—PAC WEAK IN COLORADO—

In Colorado, Governor Bivian, a Republican, is running for reelection. He has a generally satisfactory record, despite some factional troubles in the party. Most observers believe he will be reelected by a comfortable majority and that Dewey will carry the state. Sidney Hillman's Political Action Committee is doing some work in Colorado, but the C. I. O. is of little importance in the state. Resentment against the P.A.C. will take more votes away from the Fourth Term than Mr. Hillman can spare for it.

In Wyoming, terrific resentment on the part of both Democrats and Republicans because of the President's action in setting aside the Jackson Hole National Monument may turn the state to Dewey. Governor Vivian of Colorado says that the Jackson Hole controversy has almost made a Republican of Governor Hunt of Wyoming.

—ARE REGISTERING VOTERS—

Here, in Oregon, labor politics is a-bell. The P. A. C. is doing its stuff in the style of General Patton's mechanized warfare. Registration booths on wheels are a new means of getting shipyard workers to qualify for voting. These trucks roll from plant to plant. The P. A. C. dollar-a-man system of getting contributions is working with a good deal of success. The big problem before the P. A. C. is whether it can register and get the votes of the A. F. of L. workers, who outnumber the C. I. O. members two or three-fold. The sentiment of the A. F. of L. toward the election is not clear. Twice the state Federation of Labor has refused to endorse the Fourth Term, although Dave Beck, powerful in the A. F. of L. on the Coast, is personally for the President.

Another factor is the general indifference of the workers who are resident here only for the duration of the war. They are apparently eager to save what they can from present pay-envelopes and to get back to their native homes. Regardless of registration figures, whether any large proportion of them in other states can be brought to the polls and persuaded to vote for the President is still a big question. But it is upon the answer to this question that the result of the election in Oregon will rest. It is too early to determine the effect of Governor Dewey's visit here, but clearly his labor speech in Seattle has made a profound and favorable impression on the state. Oregon, at this writing, must be regarded as doubtful.

Many of us will reserve judgment on the accomplishments of the Dunbarton Oaks peace conference until we hear whether they did anything about Hollywood.

Shaving the heads of women collaborationists may have a good effect. We know one mother who hopes it will make Butch haircuts unpopular.

E. C. "Pop" Voght of 110 Lake Shore Drive, who has an intimate acquaintance with nature through long years of hunting experience, says the bucks have horns now—large horns "in velvet."

The buck's horns start developing in April or May, come "popping out like mushrooms," Voght said. By October the rack of horns are at their full size, but are still somewhat soft and covered with plushy or velvety growth. Then the buck begins to rub the horns against small trees and saplings, scraping and wearing away the soft covering.

As the fall season advances the horns become harder and more bone-like. From the rubbing they take on a polish, become strong in preparation for the coming battles with other bucks during the mating season in November.

Along in January the horns fall off. What becomes of the thousands of sets of horns nobody has ever told. Very few are found. Popular belief is that the horns are eaten by porcupines.

HOUSE BY THE SIDE—Perhaps you remember the poem whose opening line is "There are hermit souls that live withdrawn in the peace of their self-content." The title is "The House by the Side of the Road," but do you know the name of the author?

Grey Knaus of Cornell stopped in the other day and asked about it, said there had been an argument over the subject up at Cornell the night before. Most of the folks sitting in on the informal group discussion at Cornell knew a few lines of the poem.

CLUJ, capital of Transylvanian province of Kolozsvar (KOE-lozh-vahr.) The "u" of Cluj is "oo" as in cook. Say: kloooh.

ZEEBRUGGE, Belgian seaport on North Sea. The "u" has the "oo" sound of "brook." Say: ZAY-broo-guh.

LUXEMBURG, city and duchy between southeastern Belgium and Germany. The English pronunciation is LUK-sen-berg. In the German pronunciation, the "u's" are "oo" as in "look," and the "e" has the fricative (ch) sound, thus: LOOK-sun-boor(ch).

The French form is spelled Luxembourg. The "u" is a blend of "oo" and "ee," represented by the Colby symbol: (ee). The "m" is nasal, and the "g" is silent. Say: l(ee)-k-sah(n)-BOOR.

RIMINI, strategic seaport of northeast Italy on the Adriatic. Say: REE-mee-nec.

Good Morning!

WHY IT IS NEEDED—Recently the Escanaba city council addressed a request to State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler for the construction of a grade separation on US-241 in the city limits and asked that it be placed high on the list of post-war highway projects.

The separation proposed by the city would be at the C&NW crossing of US-241 (North 23rd street) near the Birds Eye plant. The request was made following a unanimous decision that the federal government prepared to pay the whole cost of such highway safety projects in the postwar period.

Reason for the city's interest in the project, and the city council's urging that it be given a high rating in importance, is the frequent interruption of all traffic between the north and south sections of the city when a long ore train enters or leaves the city on the North Western tracks. A long train blocks all highways connecting north and south Escanaba.

Because of this condition, it is necessary for the city to maintain two fire stations, one north of the North Western railroad tracks. This is a smaller station with a smaller crew. The main fire station is at city hall building. Should there be a major fire in North Escanaba, and a long train blocked the fire equipment from reaching it for several minutes, there could be consequent loss of property or of life.

With a grade separation at 23rd street highway traffic could move uninterrupted by trains.

THOSE DEER HORNS—The many Escanaba people who glimpsed that runaway deer Saturday when it ran through the city (and one Ludington street store) were confused as to whether it was a buck or a doe. They didn't know the sex of the animal, they said, because it didn't have horns—and a good many people think that bucks only have horns in November during the hunting season.

E. C. "Pop" Voght of 110 Lake Shore Drive, who has an intimate acquaintance with nature through long years of hunting experience, says the bucks have horns now—large horns "in velvet."

The buck's horns start developing in April or May, come "popping out like mushrooms," Voght said. By October the rack of horns are at their full size, but are still somewhat soft and covered with plushy or velvety growth. Then the buck begins to rub the horns against small trees and saplings, scraping and wearing away the soft covering.

As the fall season advances the horns become harder and more bone-like. From the rubbing they take on a polish, become strong in preparation for the coming battles with other bucks during the mating season in November.

Along in January the horns fall off. What becomes of the thousands of sets of horns nobody has ever told. Very few are found. Popular belief is that the horns are eaten by porcupines.

HOUSE BY THE SIDE—Perhaps you remember the poem whose opening line is "There are hermit souls that live withdrawn in the peace of their self-content." The title is "The House by the Side of the Road," but do you know the name of the author?

Grey Knaus of Cornell stopped in the other day and asked about it, said there had been an argument over the subject up at Cornell the night before. Most of the folks sitting in on the informal group discussion at Cornell knew a few lines of the poem.

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1934

Almost a hundred officials of the U. S. Forest service from Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin and Michigan, opened a three day convention here yesterday.

Because there was not enough PWA money available for such a large project, the application for $35,000,000 for the construction of a bridge across the straits, received no action.

Escanaba Post of the American Legion started out a new year and made preliminary plans to launch a drive to bring the 1935 state Legion rally to this city.

20 Years Ago—1924

Secretary of the state tax commission will be in Escanaba on Oct. 2 for the purpose of conducting hearings on the value of "certain timber lands in the Upper Peninsula," according to information received by County Clerk George E. Harvey.

Gladstone—Officers elected at a meeting of the American Legion were Eugene C. Dayton, commander; Roy G. Baker, vice commander; Helmer Skogquist, adjutant and finance officer; Percy Cameron, chaplain and Joseph Sturgeon, historian.

25 Years Ago—1919
Disorders were spreading in the eastern steel strike. Steel plants were shutdown and rioting was taking place. Troops were being called to quell strikers.

Attendance at the Delta county fair was expected to receive a setback due to the bad condition of the streets leading to the event. Washington avenue at two different points was said to be practically impassable.

A campaign has been started to weld the farmers of the state into a great union to procure for them better marketing and transportation facilities.

and leaned toward the side of Eddie Guest, Detroit poet, as the author. Some thought it might be James Whitcomb Riley, others Kipling. Grey wanted to know: Did or did not Guest write it?

Now a newspaper office is a poor place to ask about poetry. Your average newspaperman and newspaperwoman is more inclined toward a discussion of prose as it is written by Pyle, Pearson or Col. McCormack. The Bugler, from the depths of his ignorance, thought only a woman could have written "hermit souls that live withdrawn."

So, to settle the argument, Miss Betty Mather, Carnegie Library reference librarian, was consulted. Before turning to the official record, Miss Mather joined in the game by guessing that Edwin Markham had written the "House by the Side of Road."

Oh yes, who did write it? Sam Walter Foss.

SCRAMBLED—The very young school child came home the other day to astound her mother with: "Mommy, have I got a burst-of-her-ticket?"

"A what?" asked the mother incredulously.

"A burst-of-her-ticket. The other kids all have them."

The mother's surprise changed to laughter.

"Darling," she said, "what you mean is birth certificate!"

THIS THE RESNOY?—Sports fishermen in the Northern Green bay area, and around Escanaba particularly, are wondering why they are taking so many big Great Northern pike this year from bay waters. This answer is modestly suggested: It is because commercial fishermen have been stopped from catching them since September, 1939.

In the last five years, therefore, the pike fishing has become increasingly good for the game fisherman, until this year Great Northerns measuring more than 40 inches in length have been taken as close home as the Escanaba yacht basin. The big pike that once were caught in nets and shipped East, are now being taken by hook and line and are gracing local dinner tables.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington—Sometime ago, when Donald Nelson suggested to WPH vice chairman William Batt that things would be less embarrassing for him if he severed his connection with the SKF ball-bearing company, Batt replied that he could not afford to give up a connection he had had for twenty-five years and could not afford to live on a Government salary.

Batt has been under fire because the parent SKF company in Sweden has been shipping ball-bearings to Germany, without which the Nazis could not build airplanes. While Batt's SKF company in Philadelphia is in no way responsible for letting the Nazis have ball-bearings, many have felt that he might at least resign in protest against the policy of the Swedish affiliate.

However, he hasn't.

In contrast B. W. Taylor, who had been with SKF for more than twenty years, resigned because he could not stand having ball-bearings shipped to the Nazis from an affiliate company. He is now a lieutenant commander in the Navy.

Also Major John F. Tawresley, now with the Air Corps at Wright Field, resigned from SKF after twenty-two years of service because he could not stand the "foul odor." He had been assistant chief engineer of SKF for fifteen years.

Also R. W. Hirsch, manager of the Detroit district for SKF, resigned after twenty-seven years of service, and took a much smaller salary with an American company in Toledo.

If Batt should resign from SKF, it would be a terrible blow to the Swedes. His position as vice chairman of the War Production Board gives SKF prestige and helps to smudge over the black mark against them for shipping ball-bearings to Germany. But he will not give up his SKF salary.

—JESSE JONES' NEPHEW—

Just before the recent turbulent Texas Democratic convention, Governor Coke Stevenson approached forthright ex-Governor Jimmy Allred, who was leading the fight for Roosevelt. Governor Stevenson had just spent a good part of a day with Jesse Jones in Washington, and he said to Allred, in brief, "Jimmy, this is the Governor's convention, and I'm running for re-election. I'd like to ask one favor of you. I'd like to see George Butler appointed chairman of the convention."

Jimmy Allred almost exploded. George Butler is Jesse Jones' nephew, and the man who chairmaned the May Texas convention which appointed electors pledged not to vote for Roosevelt next November. So Allred replied: "Coke, it's all I can do to keep them from lynching George Butler, let alone making him Democratic chairman."

—WILLKIE'S "ILLNESS"—

Wendell Willkie has been mysteriously laid up in a New York hospital. He is not really ill, but is reported recuperating from a long, nervous period during which he was resisting overtures from both Roosevelt and Dewey, and writing magazine articles on what the platforms of both parties should be.

It is suspected also that there may be a tincture of political illness about Willkie's sojourn in the hospital. He was supposed to try a case in California at just about this time, as the attorney for the Gianninis Bank of America. However, to be on the West Coast last week would have meant that he would have bumped headlong into Dewey, which would have been embarrassing for both. It might have looked as if he was cramping Dewey's style.

Also Willkie may be enjoying a diplomatic rest in the hospital in order to avoid the proposed meeting with Roosevelt before November. Actually he would like to confer with the President about plans for peace, but doesn't want to have it look too political.

—HULL AS CAMPAIGN CENSOR—

Nothing has leaked out about it, but Secretary Hull has sent orders down the line to key Democrats that he doesn't want foreign policy brought into the campaign as a political issue by Roosevelt supporters.

Actually, Presidential advisers and several of Hull's fellow Cabinet members are burnt up over the Secretary of State's demand. They point out that, despite any agreement Hull may have reached with John Foster Dulles, Dewey and other GOP speakers are talking foreign policy all over the place. They claim that, since the Republicans are using foreign policy as a campaign issue, Hull's policy is like fighting with one hand tied behind your back.

Blow-off came the other day when Attorney General Biddle submitted a speech to the OWI for clearance. In the speech, he criticized Republican foreign policy before Pearl Harbor. Noting this, OWI informed Biddle's office that Hull had banned this subject in political speeches.

One OWI official went even further and told Biddle aides that the State Department objected to any attack on Dewey's ability to handle foreign policy because "it might make Dewey's handling of foreign affairs difficult if he became President."

Biddle's aides, however, refused to accept OWI's censorship. They demanded that Hull be asked specifically about the Attorney General's speech. When it was referred to the Secretary of State, he backed down and Biddle delivered the speech as planned.

DANGEROUS SOUVENIRS

(Grand Rapids Press)

The Army has a strict rule which, though often violated, bans private possession and transportation of ordnance items. It is a rule which is meant to save lives because fighting materials are really dangerous as souvenirs. The necessity of this ruling was demonstrated the other day in New York when six youngsters were injured by the explosion of a bazooka rocket which a returning soldier had brought home illegally as a war memento.

The tragic accident, in which two of the children were permanently disabled, sent New York police on a widespread roundup which netted a small arsenal of rockets, grenades, artillery shells and other similar items—each an apparently innocent souvenir but each also a potential source of death and injury.

New York undoubtedly is not the only place to which returning soldiers have brought back such souvenirs in direct violation of army regulations. It is altogether likely that several of these dangerous mementos have found their way to this community. In the interest of saving lives, those who have them should turn them over to police authorities for proper disposal.

"NAUGHTY MARIETTA"

(Sault Ste. Marie News)

It is no contradiction of the times to bring to the Sault entertainment of "Naughty Marietta" calibre. In the first place Victor Herbert's masterpiece is thorough enjoyment. It provides excellent medium for relaxation and we need relaxation and stimulus in our overtime tours of war work.

In the second place a production of the "Naughty Marietta" type introduce us to immortal music in a "live" stage. Even in war time we cannot afford entirely to forget the world of literature, music and other arts. They are the things we are fighting for; they are the things that will be nearer and dearer to us more and more after the war.

In the third place whatever money is earned will be for the benefit of local enterprises—the Kotarians using theirs for youth projects, and the alumni for financing scholarships for our youth.

Sault University of Michigan Alumni club and Rotary club are to be congratulated for selecting admirable entertainment as a vehicle for admirable service. They both deserve generous support of the public.

SEES NO LETUP IN RAIL TRAFFIC

Defeat Of Hitler Will Have Little Effect, Ayres Predicts

Despite probable cutbacks in army contracts, amounting to possibly 50 per cent of the now outstanding volume, Brigadier General Leonard P. Ayres believes that termination of the war in Europe would not occasion any lessening of existing manpower shortages on the railroads or any sizeable drop from present levels of freight and passenger traffic.

In his opinion, the railroads, for a good many months to come, "will continue to be short of manpower and long of traffic," because of intensification of production by the war industries to complete remaining munitions contracts speedily in order to get back to the production of civilian goods and win the business of former customers. This situation, he says, will probably bring "added stringencies in many labor market areas here."

Writing in "Tracks," employee magazine of the Chesapeake & Ohio Lines, General Ayres, who is economic adviser to the presidents of the three roads, observes that the railroads will probably have a large volume of transcontinental traffic as long as the war with Japan continues.

"While the immediate consequences of the termination of the war in Europe," he continues, "may include a stepping up of the rates of munitions production by manufacturers having uncompleted contracts, it does not seem likely that such a condition can long continue on a large scale."

"Present plans of the military authorities call for reduced, but still huge, outputs of war goods in 1945. Probably these plans will have to be modified, and the contemplated outputs of munitions sharply reduced. It does not seem at all likely that public opinion will tolerate the large scale production of munitions for more than a brief period after the defeat of Germany unless it is clearly apparent that they are necessary for the defeat of Japan."

Army Sentry Rocks A Baby To Sleep

Camp Claiborne, La. (AP) — A woman drove up to the camp gate and demanded entrance. When she couldn't produce proper credentials, Private Jack Elliott, MP, told her she couldn't enter.

In turning her car around the woman managed to get it stuck in a nearby ditch. She got out and handed Elliott a baby and explained that she didn't want to risk having the car turn over and injure her child.

For better than a quarter of an hour while fellow MP's labored to get the car back on the road, Elliott paced up and down the road with the babe in his arms and his ordered military pace rocked the child to sleep.

"I wonder," Elliott said, "what the provost marshal would suggest in a case like that?"

Organ Recital For Aleutian Yanks

A U. S. Navy Base, Aleutian Island (AP) — Servicemen here now find it easy to keep up with their music appreciation. They attend weekly organ recitals at the "village theater."

It was quite a stunt getting an organ to the Aleutians. A pipe organ couldn't stand the weather. So Capt Allen I. Price, base commandant, negotiated for an electric organ. When it reached here it was buried under 60,000 pounds of snow plows in the hold of a ship. Unloading the cargo at scattered points was necessary before the organ could be taken out.

EASY RULES FOR MAKING GOOD COFFEE

No disappointing flavor variation if simple procedure is followed

In these busy days there is an increased appreciation of the enjoyment and relaxation provided by coffee. As a result, the serving of good coffee is of greater concern than ever to housewives. However, for successful results there are certain rules that must be followed.

Heading the list is the accurate measurement of both coffee and water — 2 level tablespoons of coffee to each cup of water. The amount of water can be varied slightly for exact strength desired. Once the proportions have been determined to suit individual taste, they should be adhered to.

The coffee-making utensil should be kept scrupulously clean, and in brewing the coffee, application of heat, and time of brewing should be carefully watched.

Above all, it is necessary to choose a coffee that is known for its full-bodied, uniform flavor. Hills Bros. Coffee is a blend of the finest coffees obtainable, roasted to perfection through an exclusive process—"Controlled Roasting"—which roasts every berry to the exact degree that insures matchless, uniform flavor.

By following directions as printed on the label, Hills Bros. Coffee may be used with equally delicious results in any type of coffee-maker.

ESCANABA MAN LISTED AS DEAD

S/2c Donald J. LaCombe Has Been Missing For One Year

S/2c Donald Joseph LaCombe, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. George LaCombe of 331 South Tenth street, has been listed by the U. S. Navy Department as dead. His parents have been informed. He has been missing in action since September 11, 1943.

Seaman LaCombe had been injured in May, 1943, when a naval vessel on which he was stationed was torpedoed, and had just returned to sea duty after four months hospitalization when he lost his life.

James Forrester, secretary of the United States Navy wrote Mr. and Mrs. LaCombe as follows:

"Your son, Donald Joseph LaCombe, Seaman second class, U. S. Naval Reserve, has been carried on the official records of the Navy Department in the status of missing in action since September 11, 1943. Early in the morning of that day, the ship in which your son was serving, the USS Rowan, was torpedoed and sunk in the Tyrrhenian Sea. The severity of the explosion caused the ship to sink very rapidly. Visibility was good and the sea was calm. An American vessel was dispatched immediately to the scene of the sinking and rescued the survivors."

"In view of the rapidity in which the vessel sank, and the prompt rescue facilities available under favorable weather conditions, and considering the length of time that has elapsed without any indication that your son survived, I am reluctantly forced to the conclusion that he is deceased."

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 5 of Public Law 490, 77th Congress, as amended, his death is presumed to have occurred on 12 September 1944, which is the day following the expiration of twelve months in the missing status."

"I extend to you my sympathy in your great sorrow and hope you may find comfort in the knowledge that your son gave his life for his country, upholding the highest traditions of the Navy. The Navy shares in your bereavement and has felt the loss of his service."

Born in Escanaba March 24, 1920, Seaman LaCombe was graduated from Escanaba high school with the class of 1940. He was employed by the Escanaba Daily Press as a printer apprentice and later went to Chicago to follow the same trade, entering the service from that city in 1941.

He is survived by his parents and the following brothers and sisters: Mose of Holland, Mich.; Lawrence, Escanaba; Mrs. Arthur Bore, (Virginia) of Wilmette, Ill.; Napoleon, Escanaba; Pvt. Edward LaCombe, who has been in the Army for seven years, and who is now stationed in Marysville, Calif. after 24 months of foreign service; Mrs. Howard Goodnaugh, (Clara) of Escanaba and Torpedo-man 2/c John LaCombe of the United States Navy, somewhere in the South Pacific.

They are: Flush radiator, check connections and put in anti-freeze check lubricants for proper viscosity, see that battery is charged, have distributor points cleaned, have spark plugs cleaned and reset, check generator for proper output, clean carburetor and fuel system, check exhaust gaskets for leaks, check wheel alignment, inspect lighting system, check windshield wiper and heater.

ESCANABA MAN LISTED AS DEAD

S/2c Donald J. LaCombe Has Been Missing For One Year

S/2c Donald Joseph LaCombe, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. George LaCombe of 331 South Tenth street, has been listed by the U. S. Navy Department as dead. His parents have been informed. He has been missing in action since September 11, 1943.

Seaman LaCombe had been injured in May, 1943, when a naval vessel on which he was stationed was torpedoed, and had just returned to sea duty after four months hospitalization when he lost his life.

James Forrester, secretary of the United States Navy wrote Mr. and Mrs. LaCombe as follows:

"Your son, Donald Joseph LaCombe, Seaman second class, U. S. Naval Reserve, has been carried on the official records of the Navy Department in the status of missing in action since September 11, 1943. Early in the morning of that day, the ship in which your son was serving, the USS Rowan, was torpedoed and sunk in the Tyrrhenian Sea. The severity of the explosion caused the ship to sink very rapidly. Visibility was good and the sea was calm. An American vessel was dispatched immediately to the scene of the sinking and rescued the survivors."

"In view of the rapidity in which the vessel sank, and the prompt rescue facilities available under favorable weather conditions, and considering the length of time that has elapsed without any indication that your son survived, I am reluctantly forced to the conclusion that he is deceased."

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 5 of Public Law 490, 77th Congress, as amended, his death is presumed to have occurred on 12 September 1944, which is the day following the expiration of twelve months in the missing status."

"I extend to you my sympathy in your great sorrow and hope you may find comfort in the knowledge that your son gave his life for his country, upholding the highest traditions of the Navy. The Navy shares in your bereavement and has felt the loss of his service."

Born in Escanaba March 24, 1920, Seaman LaCombe was graduated from Escanaba high school with the class of 1940. He was employed by the Escanaba Daily Press as a printer apprentice and later went to Chicago to follow the same trade, entering the service from that city in 1941.

He is survived by his parents and the following brothers and sisters: Mose of Holland, Mich.; Lawrence, Escanaba; Mrs. Arthur Bore, (Virginia) of Wilmette, Ill.; Napoleon, Escanaba; Pvt. Edward LaCombe, who has been in the Army for seven years, and who is now stationed in Marysville, Calif. after 24 months of foreign service; Mrs. Howard Goodnaugh, (Clara) of Escanaba and Torpedo-man 2/c John LaCombe of the United States Navy, somewhere in the South Pacific.

They are: Flush radiator, check connections and put in anti-freeze check lubricants for proper viscosity, see that battery is charged, have distributor points cleaned, have spark plugs cleaned and reset, check generator for proper output, clean carburetor and fuel system, check exhaust gaskets for leaks, check wheel alignment, inspect lighting system, check windshield wiper and heater.

OPEN DRIVE TO RECRUIT WAVES

Navy Opens Campaign To Relieve Manpower For Active Duty

To make available a maximum of manpower for the Navy, a special recruiting drive will be opened in Escanaba and elsewhere in the country today which is expected to attract hundreds of eligible young women into the WAVES with the start of the third year of this branch of the service.

Petty Officer H. A. Bahr this morning will open the WAVES headquarters at 922 Ludington, corner of Tenth street and Ludington, P. O. 3/c Mary Margaret Woody of the WAVES will arrive this evening to interview and give appointment tests to young women interested in joining the Women's Reserve. Office hours are from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily. Appointments may be made by calling No. 666.

Petty Officer Bahr in stressing the importance of the WAVES quoted the late Frank Knox, Secretary of the Navy, who wrote the introduction to the booklet entitled "The story of You in Navy Blue".

"As a member of the Women's Reserve you have a chance to serve your country as women have never served before. You most, to serve, to work and win, shoulder to shoulder with the gallant men of the Navy. That is the kind of opportunity offered to you. The chance to get off the sidelines and get into uniform; the chance to be in the Navy, of the Navy, living a real Navy life; the chance to feel important—to hold your head high.

"Isn't that the part you want to play in winning this war? Is there any part you can play in which you take greater pride after victory is won.

"Then today take the first step toward the experience you will always be proud of. Volunteer for the Navy; serve as a WAVE.

Women 20 to 35 years of age are eligible for enlistment if they are American citizens and meet the mental and physical requirements of the Navy. Married women will be accepted if their husbands are not Commissioned officers of the Navy, in the rank of ensign or above and they have no dependents under 18 years of age.

Women employed by the federal government or in certain essential war industries or who have voluntarily terminated such employment within 60 days past, will not be accepted for the WAVES with a release from their employer or a certificate of availability from the U. S. Employment service or the Joint Army-Navy personnel board.

Name Committees For Potato Queen Contest In Delta

Committees for the selection of township young women to compete for the title of Delta county potato queen at the county Potato Show to be held October 21 were announced yesterday by E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent and member of the Potato Show committee.

The township committees will select a young woman, not less than 16 years of age, with farm experience, and with poise, and the other attributes of a "queen", to compete against other township contestants for the title of queen at the county show. Winner of the county title will enter the queen's contest at the Upper Peninsula Show to be held in Escanaba October 24 to 26, inclusive.

The U. P. winner last year was from Delta county—Miss Anna Cook of Cornell.

(The author of this article is a writer of note who has worked in logging camps and fought forest fires. He has just completed a tour of three great pulpwood-producing regions. Below is the first of a series of three stories about what he found.

BY STEWART HOLBROOK

Columbia Bridge, N. H.—There is little about this flag station in the wildest part of Coos County to give pause to the big-city visitors who pass it quickly on their summer way to Dixville Notch and the Rangley. Yet it is historic ground, and is still making history.

Here for more than a century have wandered (camped) the log drivers who chase the spruce down river to the mills. And along the timbered hills back from the Connecticut have worked thousands of lumberjacks, including such notable woods and drive bosses as 'Phonse' Roby, Black Bill Fuller, and the incredible Jigger Jones, he who commonly walked barefoot in the snow and when in liquor howled so loud that all the moose charged out of New Hampshire across the line into Maine, and have never returned.

Babies Teethe on Spruce

Yes sir, mister, this is the country where babies were teething on spruce gum and could handle an ax at ten; where no man was, or is, accounted much unless he can fell a tree so accurately as to drive a stake into the ground.

It is a country filled and running over with good stories, yesterday and today. Less than a mile from the old moss covered bridge across the Connecticut, right now, is a subject for a saga that ought to hearten all Americans, and possibly shame some of them. This saga might be called "A Year in the Life and Times of Steve Pelotsky."

Steve is a one-man army of the pulpwoods, a panzer division in himself. Now in his mid-fifties, he was born in Luxembourg but has been an American citizen since he was 21.

Just how good a citizen he is you can judge from the record. More than two years ago Steve's two sons enlisted in the American army and were sent to kill Japs.

Their father, who fought with the A. E. F. in 1918, turned his attention to the cutting of pulpwood, which Uncle Sam said he needed desperately. Time went on, and one day came the telegram that told Steve not one but both of his boys were "missing in action." That day Steve laid aside his ax and spud, put his team in the barn, and went to nearby Colebrook and direct to a bank. "I want," he told the man, "to buy two war bonds." Then he went back to his lonely camp.

Sons Honor Steve

One day, some six months later, two young men arrived at Columbia Bridge. They were in uniform, and you guessed it—Steve's two boys, wounded but well and rugged, proved they were no longer missing. There was no pulpwood cut that day, Steve was weak, first from fright, then from joy. But it was a brief interlude; the boys returned to duty.

Steve went back into the spruces along Jordan Hill. Young Charlie Pelotsky went back to the South Pacific; young Mike tarried a while at Fort Devens, Massachusetts. And there one night a radio program put him on the air. Mike's record showed that he had killed Japs aplenty, but he wouldn't tell about it at the microphone. What he told his unseen audience was this: "All of us are doing our best to kill the enemy and finish the war. My father, who is no longer a young man, is also doing his part. Every day he cuts spruce for pulp, cuts it in cold and hot weather, in snow or rain. He's doing as much as any of us to win the war."

Unknown to Private Mike Pelotsky, Fort Devens officials had sent word to Mike's father to listen in on a radio program that night.

There is no radio in Steve Pelotsky's camp, so Steve went to a nearby farmhouse and there he heard his son pay homage to the old man in the woods. Steve said little about it. He was too filled with emotion to talk. He muttered something about being young enough to fight if they'd only let him, then he went back to his little camp.

Next morning, Steve's lantern gleamed through the dark spruces and long before the mist began rising from the Connecticut Steve's ax was biting into the spruce and balsam, getting some more of that terribly needed stuff for the mills that rumble day and night in Groveton and Berlin and Northumberland.

A Cord Plus a Day

Day in and out, snow, rain or shine, Steve Pelotsky has been tearing into the timber like a madman. In the past year the scale shows he has cut and piled 386 cords of whacking good pulpwood. This, you must remember, is a one-man show. Steve is his own cook, straw boss, foreman, chopper, teamster, barnboss, skidder and piler.

Some thoughtful folks might call Steve a foreigner. I'm here to hail him as an American. In the first mark—one that I'm proud to know and who did me honor when he served tea and cream tartar biscuits when I called at his tiny camp yesterday. But he is a tough baby to interview. I had to put his story together from other sources. All that Steve would say for publication was that in the next year he hopes to run his scale well over 400 cords. "I hope they make TNT out of all of it," was his final remark.

The world's first electrically run railroad train was operated in the United States in 1887.

BLISTER RUST HELD IN CHECK

White Pine Protection Program Is Short On Manpower

Handicapped by lack of personnel, the U. S. and Michigan Departments of Agriculture are just closing their second year of a "hold the line" policy in connection with their program of blister rust control. Throughout the summer only 100 men and high school boys were engaged in the counties of Mackinac, Chippewa, Alger, Marquette, Iron, Ontonagon and Delta in the protection of white pine stands in those areas.

While not all areas in need of protection were taken care of, the disease was held in check in the most valuable stands. A summary of results obtained during the last two years indicates that 15,495 man days were used in the protection of 50,586 acres of white pine.

Since the rust which destroys white pine spreads only by means of windblown spores to currant and gooseberry bushes, much of the effort of the summer crews was directed toward the elimination of these hosts, or ribes. The biennial report shows that 2,347,033 ribes were destroyed.

Today there are 441,914 acres of white pine considered worth protecting in Michigan, of which 186,960 acres are located in Upper Peninsula counties. Marquette county with 62,724 acres has the state's largest acreage and Luce county is second with 39,071 acres. It was emphasized, however, that this acreage includes all white pine from the seedling stage to maturity.

Disease Is Widespread
Counties most seriously affected with blister rust are Marquette and Dickinson but all Upper Peninsula counties have some damage due to the disease. The rust is so widespread that only protected stands can be expected to reach maturity. Elimination of the ribes has been found to be the most effective way of controlling the rust and in areas where the currant and gooseberry bushes have been destroyed the pine continues to remain healthy.

It is necessary to eliminate all ribes that grow within 900 feet of valuable white pine. Crews of from three to five men cover the ground in parallel strips and uproot all ribes they find. Five or more years later the same ground is worked over to take care of bushes overlooked or which have come up from seed. After two or three workings of a territory the pine stand usually is protected.

Black currant bushes are the most dangerous hosts to blister rust spores. The European cultivated black currant is capable of spreading infection up to a mile and for this reason it has been declared a public nuisance and is destroyed wherever found. During the last two years 1605 of

October Quota For Cars Is 353 Units

The October quota of new passenger cars available for rationing will be 3,000, with regional and national reserve of 600, the office of price administration announced today. This is the same quota as was set for August.

Current inventories of new passenger cars are now below 20,000—normally less than a two-day supply.

The automobile quota for October for this region, region three, consists of 353 units, with a regional reserve of 35 cars.

Pineapples weighing 20 pounds are common in the New Hebrides islands.

these bushes have been removed from 325 locations.

Program Runs Behind
While the wartime "hold the line" policy has been considered successful, the department has not been able to keep abreast of the spread of the disease, and to catch up will require an expanded control program as soon as labor is available, it was said. More than 300 men will be needed for several seasons from May through October.

In the 16 years of operation of the control program about 85 per cent of white pine considered worth protecting has been given initial attention and 22 per cent, 97,692 acres, has been put on a maintenance basis and requires no further attention.

Sports Fit Youth For War Service, Says Eskymo Coach

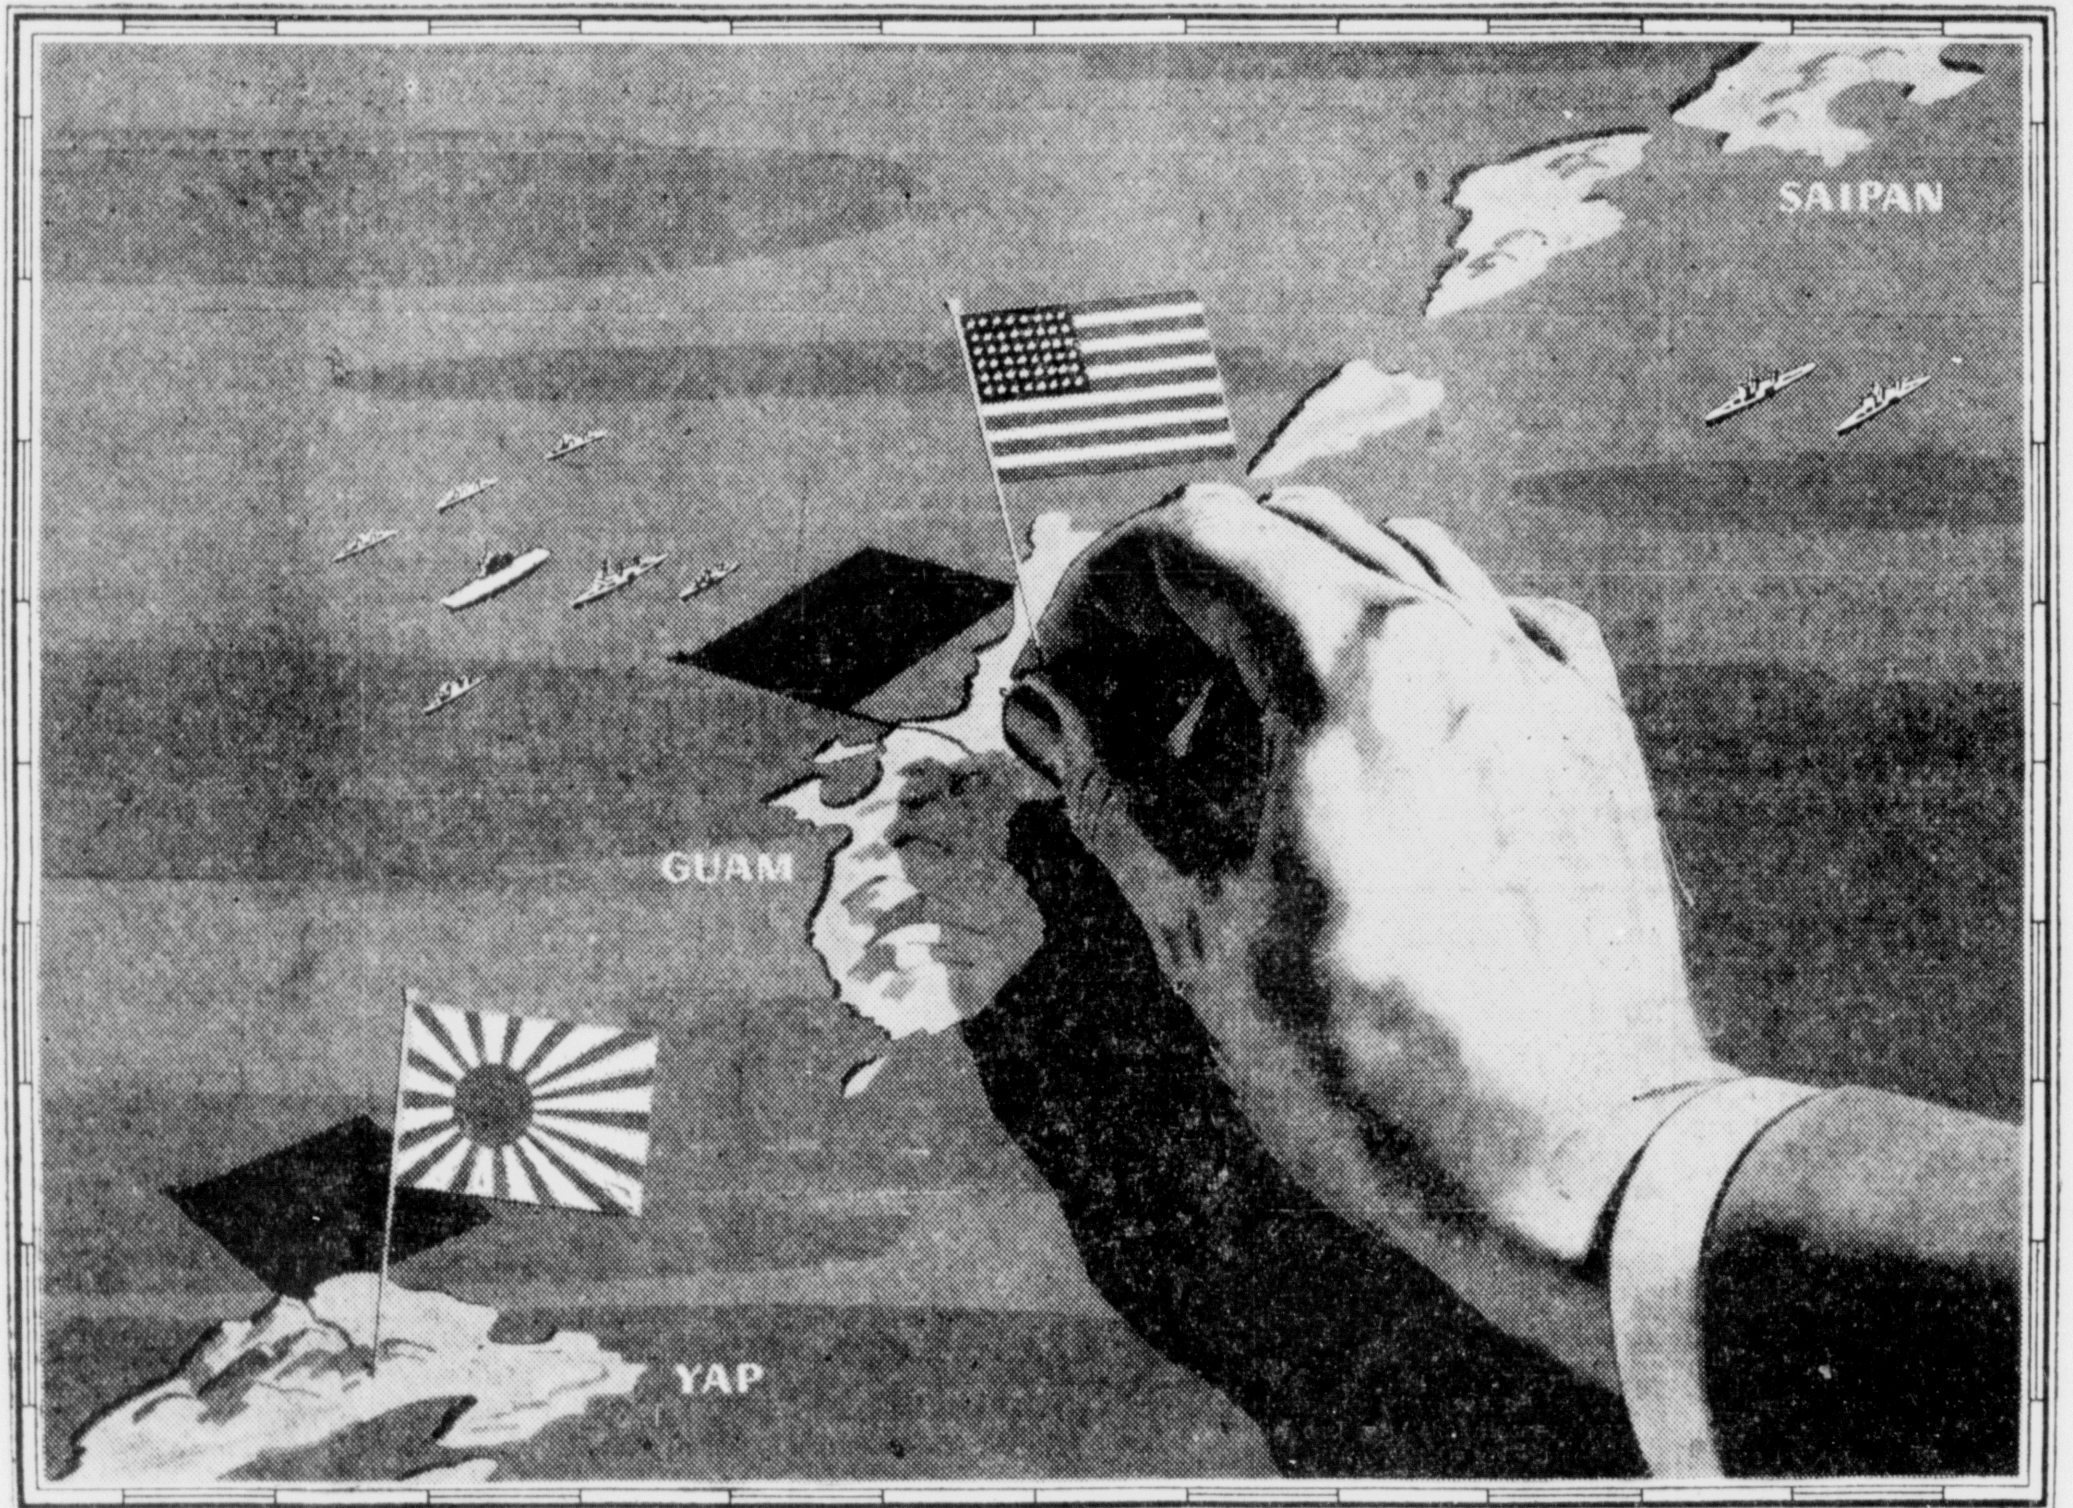

Success of the American forces on the battlefields of this war may be credited in no small degree to the preliminary training received by our young men in football and other sports. Coach George Ruwitch of the Escanaba high school declared in a talk at the meeting of the Kiwanis club yesterday noon.

Sports have conditioned American youth physically for duty with the armed forces, and have given training in the coordination of effort that is so important in this war, the athletic director said. Ruwitch then described some football plays that closely follow the pattern of military strategy used by the Allies in North Africa and at the Siegfried line.

The Escanaba coach also gave an interesting play-by-play review of the Iron Mountain - Escanaba game last Saturday.

Announcement was made by Thaxter W. Shaw, president of the Kiwanis club, of arrangements for the showing of the famous Colleen Moore doll house in the O. W. Gustafson building, Ludington and Tenth streets, for 10 days beginning Oct. 4.

State highway officials estimate needed construction on principal highways as of July, 1943, would cost $7,000,000,000.

How much does it cost to move a pin?

On a war map of the South Pacific, the little red-white-and-blue pins march steadily westward.

Tarawa ... Makin ... the Marshalls ... Saipan ... and each move brings the pins closer to Tokyo.

And each move is mighty expensive business. The cost is high in dollars ... and the cost is high in men.

To plant the Stars and Stripes on Saipan cost the lives of more than 2000 American boys ... plus some 12,000 wounded and missing. Naturally, these losses cannot be summed up in dollars and cents ... there is not enough money in the world to bring back 2000 dead Americans.

But in guns, ammunition, and other equipment, it is estimated that Saipan cost us many millions of dollars. Each of the many steppingstones remaining between our forces and Tokyo may cost as much or more.

Where is the money coming from?

It's coming from you, and millions of Americans like you ... from the taxes you pay, and from the War Bonds you buy.

And while it may pinch a little, buying those Bonds is the smartest thing you ever did.

For the dollars you put in Bonds not only help win the war. They come back to you later—and bring more dollars with them.

In this postwar world we're going to build, they'll be the most valuable dollars anybody ever owned.

Get all you can of them—now!

WACS Needed As Technicians In Medical Corps

Although plans are now in preparation for a large scale demobilization after the collapse of Germany, there is a rapidly growing need for American women to enlist in the Women's Army Corps for assignment to duty as medical technicians. It has been announced by headquarters of the Sixth Service Command, Chicago.

Some of the vacancies currently existing in Army hospitals require previous technical experience. However, schools have been established at which women with special aptitudes are given short, intensive training courses to equip them for the vitally important jobs which must be done.

General admission qualifications do not differ materially from those imposed for regular WAC enlistment. Women must be between the ages of 20 and 50, they must have had at least four years of high school education; and a satisfactory aptitude rating must be established at the time of enlistment. Enlistees for any of the medical and surgical technician assignments must take six weeks of basic WAC training before they are assigned to hospitals or to the training schools.

The courses vary with the character of the assignments and it is certain, in the opinion of Army personnel, that the training obtained in these schools can be carried over by any woman as a valuable asset in post war work.

The jobs that will be performed to Wacs in the medical and surgical installations will not only afford women opportunities to perform worthwhile work in helping soldiers to fight their way back to health, but they will be intensely interesting and stimulating.

During the months immediately ahead, thousands of WACS will be serving at Army hospitals in varied technical assignments. They will be working as X-ray technicians, thereby assisting doctors in the diagnosis and treatment of diseases and injuries; they will be working as occupational therapists, teaching men that physical handicaps need not render them useless, and instructing them in techniques and trades which they may use when they return to civilian life.

Wacs also will be used as pharmacists, and pharmacists' aides, compounding drugs and dispensing medicines at the direction of medical officers. Others will be employed as optometrists, prescribing corrective lenses for defective eyes, and supervising courses of optic exercises to strengthen injured or otherwise impaired muscles and structures.

Still other members of the Women's Army Corps will work as psychiatric social workers and psychiatric assistants, doing case work to facilitate the treatment of soldiers who need guidance in their return to home life.

Assigned Duties
Orthopedic technicians' duties will be assigned to Wacs who are qualified for the work, either through their previous experience and training, or through the instruction they will receive in the Army. These women will construct all types of braces, artificial limbs and other appliances, and they will assist in adjusting them to the individual needs of the soldiers.

Other Wacs will become proficient as teachers of lipreading, for men with impaired hearing; as instructors in the reading and writing of the Braille system for the blind, or as typing teachers for the same men.

Wacs who are medical technicians will work under the direction of doctors and nurses, recording temperatures and pulse, and performing other duties in the care of the sick. Wac surgical technicians will have duties that include the preparation of operating rooms and surgical equipment, and other non-professional preoperative and postoperative duties.

ARMED FOR ALL OCCASIONS—Because chic hand-crocheted shorties, like the fringed model, lower right, are made clean with a dip or two in the basin, dry quickly and can go anywhere, they're a foremost glove favorite for both a city and suburban summer this year.

BY EPSIE KINARD

NEA Staff Writer

New York—Playing the most versatile roles in their fashion lives, summer gloves give you the sole whoop-de-do that you need for an outfit; make covers for arms that shouldn't be exposed; supply motifs that are easy to repeat for clever ensembling; and provide changes as fresh as Monday's wash to revive a wilted costume.

They supply excitement with no help, thank you, from other accessories, when they're made of a giddy print as, for instance, the dizzy gauntlet (lower left) made of scarf silk with black spotted zebras romping over a background of aquamarine. There's another example in the rayon fringed jersey arm climbing glove at the upper left.

Capable of playing a solo role—and heavily dramatic—are feminine fatale black mesh arm-length "mitts," and you see one in a popular peek-a-boo crochet stitch in the center of the line-up at the right.

Among the glove trimmings that beg you to repeat their decorative motifs elsewhere in a costume are whipping buttons in gay colors, such as you see on the white capekin shortie shown center. Buttons to match this one—only bigger—can be bought over the counter for use on a blouse, a jacket or a dress.

Other motifs are hand-painted on a glove—such as the butterfly decorated cotton shortie at the extreme upper right—and repeated on sweaters and stockings of resort ensembles.

New Register

At Library to Open October 2

A new register of borrowers at the Carnegie public library will be inaugurated on Monday, October 2. It was announced yesterday by Nancy B. Thomas, librarian.

In re-registering the numbers will begin with the figure 1 but will be followed by the letter A and the first person to appear at the library to register the morning of October 2 will receive the number 1A.

The old numbers will be continued in use until a sufficient number of people are assigned new numbers and then all the old numbers will be discarded. It is expected this will take about a year and from then on each patron will be asked to re-register every third year.

The old register, which was begun in 1932, now contains 13,750 names, and a check of the first one hundred persons listed in it revealed that, of that number, 27 have left the city and 10 have died.

Worry Clinic

With Case Records Of
A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE D-257: Clarence T., aged 35, is a department head of a local chain store.

"I am to be promoted next month to assistant manager of a store that has been doing a business of half a million dollars per year," he proudly informed me. "Naturally, I am quite thrilled. But I am also fearful, for I have always been nervous about talking in public. At my lodge meeting, I am petrified with fear at the thought of making a report."

"I stay home from my luncheon club if I think there is any chance I might be called on that day for a few remarks."

"I must conquer this fear somehow, for I will be required to handle salesmen and occasionally preside at meetings. My very success will depend upon my learning how to speak in public."

Diagnosis
Everybody grows excited when he is called upon to do something a bit out of his usual line.

This is simply a stagefright reaction. It is Nature's way of keying you up to a high pitch so your heart will beat faster, your blood pressure will zoom, and hence your thoughts will percolate better.

Nature thus tries to make you so nervous that you will be hypersensitive to external stimuli and not miss a trick, so to speak. Stagefright is Nature's method of putting you on a war basis emotionally and physiologically.

A sluggish person, whose thoughts and actions were slow in a crisis, might thus not react swiftly enough to avoid death, disaster, the rattlesnake's lunge, etc.

Be Grateful for Stagefright
From this angle, therefore, you should be grateful that you have stagefright. But because all human beings become self-conscious about their stagefright, this beneficial physiological reaction of the body may be carried too far and hampering a person's social effectiveness.

To become calm in any new situation, you must first realize that you have distinguished company by the millions. The great orators of the world were all victims of stagefright at the start.

Secondly, to change a situation from a "new" experience to a "familiar" one, you must meet it scores of times.

Applied to public speaking, this means you must make at least 100 talks before you can expect to become poised and assured. So teach a Sunday school class, where you can make 52 talks per year.

Control Your Stagefright
College students, don't wait till you enter a university class in public speaking, for you can acquire the fundamentals of public speaking in your church or Sunday school or Boy Scout Troop free of charge, if only you take advantage of your opportunities.

Why pay a high tuition for a chance to speak for 3 minutes once per week in a college public speaking class, when you can talk for 30 minutes as a teacher of a Sunday school class, and not have to pay a cent? (Perhaps you ought, however, to donate $1.50 weekly to the Sunday collection for this public speaking opportunity. Clergymen, take note! Maybe this would be a new idea for raising funds and recruiting teachers.)

Fortunately, your nervousness feels probably ten times as bad as it looks to the audience for you to get all those internal sensations the crowd misses. Send for my bulletin "How to Make a Good Speech," enclosing a 3c stamped envelope, plus a dime.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3c stamped addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

When washing white cotton fabrics, soak to loosen dirt.

ALASKA LOOKS
FOR TOURISTS"Icebox" Plans Welcome
For Postwar
Visitors

BY NORMAN BELL
Adak, Alaska (AP)—Alaska, the "icebox" the United States bought from Russia and then largely forgot, is warming up a welcome for tourists once war ends and there is such a commodity as tourists again.

Officials are not at all dismayed by the unanimous lack of enthusiasm for Alaska among soldiers (they say "hell no" when anyone inquires if they'd like to settle in Alaska.)

Sourdough Tradition
In fact, they count on these reluctant guests to go back home and spread the word of the territory's physical attractions.

There is an Alaskan tradition that visitors once subjected to the wild beauty and the bigness of the land always long to come back. Old timers say soldiers and sailors can't escape it.

Many soldiers admit they would like to come back some day with their families to visit mainland or Aleutian bases where they served, perhaps with stops at tourist hotels on Kiska, Attu and Adak.

But post-war planners count on something besides the spell of the Yukon. Transportation has improved immensely because of war.

Post-war Planning
In no part of the world, just before the war, did the development of air transport promise so much. Virtually railroadless and with few roads, Alaska was "opened up" by planes, which often reduced a two-week trek to a jaunt of a few hours. Lakes served as landing fields in the wilderness.

A planning survey under the National Park service is studying recreational and industrial development which may result from future opening of the Alaska highway to regular travel.

There is talk of extending the highway to the Bering shift, which would be the only sea barrier on a travel route from the United States to the capitals of Asia and Europe, for that matter.

There are new harbors, once unknown waters have been charted, particularly along the Aleutian "great circle" route to Asia, and there are strings of airfields and weather stations.

These also would be important in tapping the great, untouched stores of natural resources, which officials believe is sure to come.

To Keep the Pacific Pacific
The War Department recently put the Army's Alaskan department on a permanent basis, indicating the United States intends to use the Aleutians' strategic position to keep the Pacific pacific.

That will, no doubt mean the maintenance of a considerable force in the area.

Some Alaskans predict a large influx of population attracted by the opportunities of developing natural resources and new industry.

Gigantic Oil Reserve
Norman Ebbiley, Alaska bureau of mines engineer, said a recent survey indicated a great oil reserve covering 20,000 square miles on the Arctio slope. The land is in the Naval reserve.

Regional Forester Frank Heintzleman predicts southeastern Alaska timberland will help meet post-war demands for housing, plastics and chemicals.

The government owns forests of spruce, hemlock and cedar which crowd 8,000 miles of shore line in that area.

A territorial laboratory at Ketchikan is doing research on fisheries expansion by use of fish by-products, and the Alaska game commission's experimental farm at Petersburg is encouraging expansion of fur farming.

Browns In Tie For First Place As Tigers Lose; Yanks Take Two

BENGALS HELD TO FOUR HITS

Brilliant Ball Pitched By Christopher For 2-1 Triumph

BY FRANK KENESON
Detroit, Sept. 25 (AP)—Russ Christopher, lanky Philadelphia right-hander, fanned the Detroit Tigers on four hits today as the Athletics captured the opener of a three-game series, 2 to 1, before a paid crowd of 5,881 fans.

The Tiger loss, cracking a four-game winning streak, gave the St. Louis Browns an opportunity to tie Detroit for the American league lead tonight by beating Boston.

Christopher, beating the Tigers for the second time this season, pitched brilliant ball. Three of Detroit's hits were infield scratches and only six balls went to the Philadelphia outfield all afternoon.

York Stranded
Irvin Hall's double leading off the Philadelphia eighth inning, followed by Ford Garrison's single over second, provided the winning run, breaking a 1-1 tie and sending Ruff Gentry down for his 14th defeat. Gentry had won four in a row before today.

Philadelphia scored first in the second when Dick Siebert singled, took second as Eddie Mayo dropped the ball on a double play pivot, moved to third when Charley Metro walked to fill the bases and scored as Edgar Busch hit into a double play.

Detroit came right back to tie it up in the same inning without benefit of a hit. Dick Wakefield walked and was forced at second by Jimmy Outlaw. Two were out when Joe Hoover bounced to Metro threw the ball away. Outlaw scored all the way from first.

Detroit's only solid base hit off Christopher was Rudy's York's single to right in the eighth with one out. York reached second on a passed ball but was stranded there.

The victory brought Christopher's season record to 13 wins against 14 defeats and assured the Athletics of no worse than an even break against the Tigers this year.

Gentry went all the way for the Tigers, giving only six hits and fanning four. He was in trouble three times but twice Tiger double plays pulled him out of a hole.

Besides the second inning twin killing that stopped the A's with one run, Hoover and Mayo combined on another double play to retire the Macks in the fourth after Siebert and Bill Mc Ghee had singled successfully with one out. Hoover caught Metro's liner, doubling Siebert at second.

Dizzy Trout Next
Detroit's first hit came in the fourth when Eddie Mayo bounced a single off Mc Ghee's glove but was out stealing. The Tigers filled the bases in the fifth when Gentry duplicated Mayo's infield hit, Roger Cramer was safe as Busch booted his double play bouncer and Higgins was hit by a pitched ball after Mayo had forced Cramer for the second out. York forced Higgins, retiring the side.

Wakefield beat out a grounder to third leading off the sixth for the Tigers, stole second and took third on Outlaw's infield out. Paul

Cards Turn Back
Dodgers 3 and 7

Brooklyn, Sept. 25 (AP)—Harry Brecheen warmed up for a possible World Series start by turning back the Brooklyn Dodgers with six hits 3-1 but needed a two-run single by Arnie Bergman in the ninth today to earn victory No. 102 for the Champion St. Louis Cardinals.

Frenchy Bordagaray's single, Dixie Walker's double and an infield out gave Ruben Melton a one-run edge in the fourth but the Cards tied in the fifth on Martin Marion's single, Bergman's double and Ed Stanky's error.

Brecheen earned his 16th victory and Melton took his 12th defeat.

The stirring Bears-Packers football game at Green Bay Sunday, the Packers winning, 42-28, indelibly showed to the 24,000 plus fans who attended why professional football is gradually taking the spotlight away from collegiate football in public popularity.

The team performances were brilliant and the individual play of such stalwarts as Don Hutson, Lou Brock and Ted Fritsch of the Packers and Sid Luckman, Wilson and McLean of the Bears had the fans hanging on to their seats in admiration.

Without Luckman, the Bears would have been hopelessly licked after that wild first quarter when the Packers scored two touchdowns and set up the third. Even in defeat, Luckman was the No. 1 star of the game. He brought the Bears back from a 28-0 deficit to put them on even terms with only five minutes of play remaining and was in complete command of that spirited Bears rally from midway in the second period to the touchdown equalizer in the fourth period. Although he was pressed hard by the Packers line, which outplayed the Bears' forward line all afternoon, Luckman uncanonically picked out his receivers and rifled the ball with unerring accuracy.

Lou Brock's touchdown run from the 36 yard line which broke the 28-0 tie was a result of a well executed end run. The Packers interference was overwhelming and after the Bears' right end and tackle were swept out of the play, Luckman was the only defender with any chance to block the score. Two burly Packers took Luckman out of action and Brock ran the last 15 yards unimpeded. A picture of Luckman plunked on his seat, where he remained for seconds after Brock had crossed the goal, would adequately have summed up the Bears' dejection at this turning point in the game.

Hunting And Fishing
By Syd Gordon

ARE YOU GOING BANKRUPT?
My sisters think that color in your home and your business has a great deal to do with success and happiness. They cite instances of where a team of cold colors went bankrupt, although the food and the service were excellent.

Another tea room, with cheerful walls and lamps, made the patrons cheerful. They talked with ease in this eating place, while in the other they began to whisper the moment they entered its gray room with cheerless lampshades.

We fishermen and hunters, who live in the north, have a different feeling in the fall of the year. The woods are beautiful, of course. The warm colors, tan, yellow, yellow orange and the various shades of red stand out and hit us in the eye at every step.

He who is going bankrupt in his thoughts, aims, ambitions, and in his muscular reactions, steps out with a flimsy tread in the fall. We attribute it to the cooler weather, the knowledge that winter will soon be upon us.

I wonder if there isn't something to this color theory after all. We hunters and fishermen may know little about colors or the mixing of them but our ignorance loses us nothing.

We only know that the fish hit harder, the game moves more actively and yet is keen in seeing and evading us. Maybe it is the warm colors of the woods which increases our pleasure, makes us keener and happier.

Yesterday, a captain in the army stopped off at my house to have lunch with me on his way to the woods. He had a surgeon from Chicago with him. The captain said he had just gotten his medical discharge and intended to sleep, walk a little, and rest much until his nerves got over those two months in the hospital.

I'll bet he will find no better tonic than the woods for his shattered system, for his bones have suffered no harm. I wouldn't be surprised but that he comes back a different man.

Second Place Hopes
Blasted For Cincy

New York, Sept. 25 (AP)—Shortstop Buddy Kerr put the chill on Cincinnati's dropping second place hopes here today by driving a ninth inning homer off the left field wall on Ed Heusser's first pitch of the frame. The game was played in the last time of 81 minutes.

Pirates Drop One To Braves, Capture Suspended Contest

Boston, Sept. 25 (AP)—After scoring another run for a 13-5 victory while completing a game suspended here after eight innings on August 1, the Pittsburgh Pirates today dropped the regularly scheduled contest to the Boston Braves by a 5-4 margin in 13 innings.

Phil Masi's double off the left field fence and Stew Hoffer's pinch-hit single gave the Braves their overtime win after they had filled the bases with one out in the tenth.

All of the Pittsburgh runs resulted from Bob Elliott's pair of homers, his ninth and tenth of the season. His second one, coming with two on in the eighth, put the Pirates into a 4-4 tie.

PACKERS BEAT CHICAGO BEARS

Green Bay Takes 42-28 Edge In Thrilling Battle

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 24 (AP)—The Green Bay Packers, scoring twice in the last five minutes of play, broke a deadlock and defeated the Chicago Bears, 42 to 28, in a wild, bruising National League football game today before 24,000.

The Packers completely dominated the play in the early stages and ran up an early lead of 28 to 0 in the first 19 minutes of play. Then they bogged down and the Bears, fighting all the way, gradually closed the gap, scoring once in the second period, once in the third quarter and twice in the early stages of the final period to knot the score at 28-28.

A great 41-yard run around left end by Veteran Lou Brock proved to be the margin of victory. He got loose behind good interference and raced through the entire Bear secondary to score. An intercepted pass by Ted Fritsch, and a run-back of 50 yards in the closing seconds, proved to be the clincher.

CLEVELAND RAMS WIN
Pittsburgh, Sept. 24 (AP)—Cleveland Rams brought out an unheralded aerial attack that caught the Pittsburgh-Chicago combine flat-footed to hand the Steelers a 33-28 defeat in a National Football league opener before 20,968 today. With Tom Cella doing the pitching, big Jim Benton, substitute left end, scored three of the counters and set up a fourth.

Second Game

Chicago . 011 000 020—4 10 1

Laas' Homer Starts Fighting St. Louis Club To Victory

St. Louis, Sept. 25 (AP)—The fighting St. Louis Browns climbed into a first place tie with Detroit tonight in the American League pennant race as they defeated the Boston Red Sox 3 to 0 behind the brilliant two-hit pitching of Nelson Potter.

The veteran right hander pitched eight innings of scoreless baseball and his game was marred only by two consecutive scratch singles in the third inning by Roy Partee and Skeeter Newsome.

The Sox had only one base runner after that third inning, Newsome, who reached first in the eighth on an error by George McQuinn.

Chaet Laas and rookie Boris "Babe" Martin were the bright spots in the eight-hit Browns attack on Clem Driesewerd and Francis Barrett.

Laas' first inning home run sent Luke Sewell's men off to a lead and he later got a hit and scored the Browns second run in the seventh. Martin doubled his first time up and singled Laas home in the seventh in his first major league appearance.

The game was witnessed by 11,077 paid customers and was played in one hour and twenty minutes, fastest for any contest in St. Louis this year.

Score by innings:
Boston . 000 000 000—0 2 0
St. Louis . 100 000 11x—3 8 1
Driesewerd, Barrett and Partee; Potter and Hayworth.

County Golf Title Goes To Swanson

In weather more suited to football than golf, Elmer Swanson, Jr., emerged king of county golf champs in a three way match Sunday afternoon on the Escanaba Country club links. Displaying championship form, Swanson swept the field, running the course in two strokes over par.

Contenders John Cass, who finished runner up, and the veteran Bill Skellenger, Gladstone, camped on the champ's heels all the way, but the country club entry was too much for the head men from the Gladstone and Highland clubs.

A relatively small gallery silvered around the course behind the contenders, but it was all for a good cause: The Red Cross gets the gate receipts.

GROVE SLAPPED FOR 11 BLOWS

New Yorkers Show Old Zip, Take White Sox 3-1 And 5-4

BY JERRY LISKA

Chicago, Sept. 25 (AP)—The third-place New York Yankees today fashed their extra-base climbing power of yore to twice trim the Chicago White Sox, 3-1 and 5-4, and climb within three games of first in the last-ditch American League race.

Trailing pace-setting Detroit by four and a half games as they opened a four-game stand here, the Yankees grabbed a 12-inning opener from the Pale Hose just as the Tigers' 2-1 loss to Philadelphia flashed on the scoreboard.

The Yanks meanwhile slapped Grove for 11 hits, five for extra bases. Stirmweiss' triple produced the Yankee run in the first, while Chicago's lone tally came on singles by Wally Moses and Roy Schalk and a long fly by Hal Trosky.

Walt Dubiel went the route in the finale for his 13th win against 12 losses, but needed all the help he got from Slugger Martin. The Sox collected 10 hits and took a 1-0 lead in the second on Thurman Tucker's triple and an error by Bud Metheny. After Martin smacked his three-run homer off Starter Joe Haynes in the third, the Hose scored again on Moses' double and a single by Ralph Hodgins.

Then came Martin's two-run circuit clout in the seventh to give New York a 5-2 lead. Three hits and a bad throw by Dubiel on a double-play ball gave the Sox a pair in the eighth which ended when Etten stabbed Schalk's pop foul with the bases loaded.

First Game
New York . 100 000 000 002—3 11 2
Chicago . 100 000 000 000—1 8 1

during the raid—just lay there cussing at the Germans. "You men! You men! You blanket-blanks! Go to hell, you so-and-so's!"

When the raid was over he was untouched, but the tent a foot above him was riddled with shrapnel.

Another soldier made a practice of keeping a canteen hanging just above his head. That night when he went to take a drink the canteen was empty. Investigation revealed a shrapnel hole, through which the water had run out.

Another soldier had the front sight of his rifle shot off by a German machine-gun bullet.

Some of the soldiers were actually picking tiny bits of shrapnel out of their coats all the next day. Yet, as I said, not a drop of American blood was shed.

When this air-drome was first set up the soldiers dug slit trenches just deep enough to lie down in during a raid, but after each new bombing the trenches got deeper.

Everybody makes fun of himself—but keeps on digging. Today some of these trenches are more than eight feet deep. I'll bet there has been more whole-hearted digging here in two weeks than WPA did in two years.

The officers don't have to hound their men. They dig with a will of their own, and with a vengeance. If we stay here long enough we'll probably have to install elevators to get to the bottom of the trenches.

After supper you see officers as busy as men out digging. Each little group has its own trench design. Some are just square holes. Some form an L. Some are regulation zigzags.

The ground here is dry, and the trenches don't fill up with water as they do in the coastal and mountain camps. The earth is as hard as concrete. You have to use an ax as well as a pick and shovel.

You'd love our air-raid alarm system. It consists of a dinner bell hanging from a date palm tree outside headquarters. When the radio watchers give the order the dinner bell is rung. Then the warning is carried to the far ends of the vast air-drome by sentries shooting revolvers and rifles into the air. At night it sounds like a small battle. When the alarm goes the soldiers get excited and mad, too. When the Germans come over the anti-aircraft guns throw up a fantastic Fourth of July torrent of red tracer bullets. But to the soldiers on the ground that isn't enough, so they let loose with everything from Colt .45s up to Tommy guns.

If the Germans don't kill us we'll probably shoot ourselves.

Bus transportation in June, 1944, increased 3.5 per cent over June, 1943, with the transit industry carrying 1,905,201,000 passengers.

DISCUSS TRADE WITH RUSSIANS

American Business Sees Benefit In Postwar Friendship Plan

"The Businessmen's Stake in American-Soviet Friendship", an economic paper prepared by Harland H. Allen, was read yesterday by Charles Gessner to the Escanaba Rotary Club as the opener for a discussion of possible postwar trade between this country and Russia.

The discussion showed the majority of the Rotarians who expressed opinions to be on the side of better understanding and closer friendship with the Russians, and for trade with Russia as a postwar consumer of America's industrial exports.

"There is no quarrel between the United States and Russia so long as communist propaganda is stopped, and this apparently ended with the Comintern," as one Rotary Club member expressed it. The discussion indicated that a closer cooperative alliance may be expected to develop between this country and Russia, than between Russia and Great Britain, because of the conflicting interests of those countries. The role of communism in China was discussed briefly.

The economic letter read by Gessner, program chairman, pointed out that Russia and the United States possess the bulk of industrial power, and the hope of the future lies in peaceful cooperation providing opportunity for business. American businessmen would be unrealistic if they did not recognize the capabilities and the future of Russian industry, the letter pointed out.

Both Russia and the United States are self-sufficient, have varied industries, and their peoples are similar in being peace-loving and without imperialistic ambitions, the letter added.

A memorial resolution adopted by the Menominee Rotary Club, honoring the late Herman Gessner, Escanaba Rotary Club member and chairman of its crippled children's committee, was read by John Lemmer. Acknowledgment was also made of the receipt of checks to the crippled children's fund from W. H. Goodstein, Chicago, and from the employees of the Fair store in Escanaba, which were contributed to the fund as memorials to its late chairman.

Overseas Mailing

Postmaster William Radue is gratified with the response to pleas for early mailing to overseas men and women. Packages are presented at the window in good condition for mailing as a rule, although the postoffice urges that the address and the sender's address be written plainly on the inner wrappings as well as the outer ones. This often saves the package in case the outer coverings are damaged. Radue asks that people do not wait until the last minute to send their packages as early mailing insures early delivery.

Dumbarton Oaks Merely Station On Hard Road

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—With the first phase of the Dumbarton Oaks conference drawing to a close, the conferees are showing real signs of optimism. The extent of the agreement they have reached apparently goes beyond what they had hoped for when they first sat down around the conference table.

It hasn't been easy, by any means. In fact, it has gone more slowly than had been expected. There were long discussions over the degree of representation to be accorded the small nations, and also over what should be done if one of the big four should turn aggressor.

Nor will the final results show a perfect accord on every score. That could only happen in an ideal world, and these men were trying always to keep an eye on reality.

Chinese Are Next

Shortly, the three-way discussion with the Russians will be over, and then the Chinese will move in. With a framework already laid down, the hope is that this second meeting can be concluded in a week or ten days.

Then Under Secretary of State Edward A. Stettinius, Jr., will report to the president. His report will, it is hoped, be made public almost at once. Protocol calls for holding it up until all the governments are ready to release the reports of their respective chiefs of delegation.

The men laboring over this agreement know best of all that it's only a beginning. Having taken the first step, they realize what patience, what painstaking effort must go into building up from this point on.

A lot of questions are unanswered. What about the place of France? What about the status of colonies in the new organization? The knots that must be untied before anything like peace can prevail in Europe are soaked in blood. The question mark of Poland casts a dark shadow over the peace table. It stands as a kind of symbol of the tortured world that has seen so much of sanity and decency—yes, Christianity—lost in the swamp of despair.

Agony In Warsaw

While the peace planners were sitting around the table at Dumbarton Oaks, there was agony in Warsaw. It was the agony of men dying in the conviction of betrayal.

Whatever the truth about who said what and who said it first, the fact remains that the Soviets did not come to the aid of General Bor's underground army, and, indeed, put obstacles in the way of the British and Americans getting help in. Putting emotion to one side, Russia lost an opportunity to show the world that aid for Poland could come only from Moscow; that the Poles are forever linked to their great neighbor on the east.

The tragic misunderstanding is ended now. Help is coming from all sides. It was ended, I believe, because the government here in Washington stood firm.

There is a difference, although some people won't see it, between standing firm for what we believe to be right and muddying

MAN HAD BRICK IN HIS STOMACH FOR 10 YEARS

One man recently stated that for 10 years he felt like he had a brick in his stomach. This feeling was due to the lump of undigested food he always had inside of him. He was weak, worn out, headachy, swollen with gas and terribly constipated. Recently he started taking ERB-HELP and says the feeling like a brick in his stomach disappeared the second day. Bowels are regular now, gas and headaches are gone and he feels like a new man.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get ERB-HELP. Sold by all Drug Stores here in Escanaba.

Fortunately, most Americans know now that this is merely the croak of a past which preferred self-destruction to anything less than impossible perfection. They know that Dumbarton Oaks is merely a station on a difficult journey.
